FALL ELECTIONS IN MANY STATES

TAMMANY WINS IN NEW YORK

Plurality of Over 70,000 For Judge Wm. J. Gaynor.

MAYOR TOM JOHNSON BEATEN

Reduced Republican Majority in Massacusetts—Maryland Constitutional Amendment in Doubt. Reform in Pennsylvania.

Elections were held yesterday in many States and cities throughout the country, with varying results, there being no National issue involved to bring about concerted party action.

In Massachusetts, the returns up to midnight indicate that Governor Eben Draper, Republican, had been re-elected over James H. Vahey, Democrat, by a greatly reduced majority, estimated at 10,000. Governor Draper's majority last year was 60,000. In Rhode Island Governor Pothier, Republican, was re-elected over Olney Arnold, Democrat, by a substantial majority. In Virginia the early returns indicate that the Democratic ticket headed by Judge Mann for Governor, had been elected by about the usual majority.

In New York city, which has been the storm center of the State, Tammany Hall scored a decisive triumph in the mayoralty election, Judge William J. Gaynor, the Democratic nominee supported by Tammany, rolling up a plurality of upward of 70,000 over Otto Bannard, Republican, who in turn led William R. Hearst by a plurality of 25,000

In Philadelphia, another battleground on reform issues, Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, was elected district attorney over D. Clarence Gibboney, representing the law and order society and the reform element. Rotan's majority exceeded that in a previous reform campaign, being estimated at upward of 30,000.

The Pennsylvania State elections for treasurer, attorney general and judge of the Supreme Court resulted in the usual Republican maority

The returns from San Francisco, where reform issues are uppermost, are meagre up to midnight, and give no indications as to the outcome.

In Maryland the constitutional amendment disfranchising the negro, is still in doubt, the Baltimore vote being strongly against the amendment while returns from the interior indicate increasing strength for the amendment.

Mayor Tom Johnson, the picturesque mayor of Cleveland, has been defeated by a decisive majority by Herman Barr, Republican. In Indianapolis, where the temperance issue has figured, Lewis Shank, Republican, is elected over Charles A. Gauss, Republican.

In New York City.

New York, Nov. 2.—Nearly three-quarters of the registered vote in New York's triangular mayoralty election had been cast by 2 o'clock this afternoon. Managers of the campaign declared that it had been one of the quietest elections in the city's history and one in which few illegal votes had been cast

The weather was cloudy during the day but that did not deter the voters from coming out.

Over a score of arrests were made for illegal voting, but many of the alleged offenders were discharged by the courts. The police reported no trouble.

Cloudy and threatening weather throughout New York State together with the fact that no State officers were being chosen kept the vote to normal proportions or less The chief contests were for members of the assembly in many of which the direct primary issue was involved

Tammany elected another mayor of Greater New York today but lost its grip on city finances. William J. Gaynor, of Brooklyn, swept the five boroughs to victory as Mayor by at least 70,000 plurality, defeating Otto T. Bannard, Republican-fusion, and William Randolph Hearst, Independent. He failed, however, to carry his ticket with him and the Republican-fusion forces will control absolutely the board of estimate and apportionment, which will disburse approximately a billion dollars during the administration. This is more than half a defeat for Tammany for the control of the board of estimate was one of the principal issues of the campaign.

In addition the Republican-fusionists elected Charles S. Whitman district attorney of New York county, who defeated George Gordon Battle, the Democratic nominee, by at least 13,000 plurality and John S. Shea for sheriff over Christopher D. Sullivan, Democrat, by approximately 10,000.

Hearst ran a poor race. Once defeated in his contest for the mayoralty against McClellan in 1905, he went down again today with a total of less than 150,000 against approximately 245,000 for Gaynor and 174,000 for Bannard. With but 36 election districts out of 1,679 missing the total vote of the Greater City for the three candidates was as follows:

Gaynor 243,870; Bannard 173,399; Hearst 148,549. This gives Gaynor a lead of 70,471 over Bannard and 95,321 over Hearst.

Day at the Polls.

Although many arrests were made for violation of the election law the greater part of these were found to be due to clerical errors or misunderstandings. The profesional repeater and the guerilla were chiefly notable by their absence. Credit for this satisfactory state of affairs was given largely to the new signature law. Under this law every voter after receiving his ballot is compelled to write his name and have it compared with the signature which he made at the time of registration

If ever a New York election was well watched it was today's. Every polling place had its full quota of watchers, including nearly 2,000 college students from Columbia, Yale, Princeton and other nearby institutions, who were distributed throughout the greater city.

Robert A. Taft, the President's son, who was among the earliest college men to volunteer as a watcher, was stationed early in the day at the Third avenue polling place. His presence, however, proved such an attraction to the Eastside crowd that the police were called upon to disperse the spectators, and young Taft was transferred to work as a Republican "scout". For the remainder of the day he spent his time hurrying by automobile from voting place to voting place investigating reports of trouble and witnessing the playing of the political game in a hundred different corners of the Greater City. Elihu Root, Jr., also studied the election system of the city as a scout watcher.

Otto T. Bannard, the Republican nominee for the mayoralty, voted early in the morning. A long line of his supporters kept up a continual cheering during the minute or two which it took him to vote.

Both Hearst and Justice Gaynor were more tardy about getting their ballots in. Mr. Hearst voted in an uptown garage shortly after noon, and Justice Gaynor appeared at a little Brooklyn tailor shop, where he cast his ballot, only an hour before the time assigned for the polls to close. Both were pretty thoroughly flashlighted and snapshotted while they were preparing to vote.

The betting odds which had made Gaynor a 1 to 2 favorite last night, advanced still more in his favor during the day. By the time the polls closed Gaynor money went begging at 1 to 3. There was far less confidence among the bettors, however, as to the remainder of the Democratic ticket.

Herbert Parsons, the Republican chairman, said tonight that the election had been the hardest fought municipal contest ever held in New York. "It is true this has been a quiet election," he said, "but there has been much crookedness and I think we shall hear more of this later. Our watchers reported all day long that ballots had been found already marked with a cross in the Democratic column before being handed to the voter."

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 2.—Though returns from 30 scattered precincts may reduce the plurality slightly, indications late tonight are that W. O. Head, Democratic mayoralty candidate, won over Mayor James F. Grinstead, Republican candidate for reelection by 2,000 The election of the rest of the Democratic ticket is conceded by the Republicans.

Support of Head by a heavy labor vote is held responsible for the change in Louisville's political complexion. Negro domination was an issue in the campaign characterized by bitter personalities.

While several arests were made on minor charges, only one serious clash occurred between whites and blacks. After the polls had closed tonight and while the street corners were thronged partisans awaiting returns, Moses Perkins, white, was shot and killed by a negro who escaped. The shooting followed a political argument. Several shots were fired.

It is said that the good roads constitutional amendment was carried.

Virginia's Result.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 2.—Judge William Hodges Mann, of Nottoway, Democrat, was elected Governor of Virginia today over William P. Kent, of Wythe, Republican. He carried the entire Democratis ticket with him, the Republicans not making a serious contention for a single office.

Mann's plurality with returns practically complete from 17 out of 19 cities and 84 out of 100 counties, is 23,500. Swanson's majority for Governor four years ago was 7,749 and Bryan's plurality in Virginia at the last presidential election was 30,343. The cities still to be heard from are Newport News and Bristol and incomplete returns indicate that Mann will carry both. The vote in the counties still to be heard from will not change the usual majority.

CROWDS POURING INTO RALEIGH

Great Farmers' National Congress Will Convene There Tomorrow Morning.

NEWS OF A DAY IN RALEIGH

Negro Sues Seaboard for Heavy Damages—Military Coming to Wilmington—Lee County Superior Court Called.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 2.—More delegates arrived today, to attend the Farmers' National Congress. President Benehan Cameron is very busy, looking after many details of the annual session, which begins Thursday morning in the auditorium of the A. & M. College.

He is endeavoring to arrange to have Ambassador Bryce, who is to be his guest at his beautiful home here, arrive tomorrow evening instead of Thursday morning.

Col. Cameron will give a dinner to Mr. Bryce Thursday at his home, and several prominent gentlemen will be invited to be present on this occasion.

Thomas Price, a negro, is held here without bail privilege, for cutting with a pocket knift a farmer, M. L. Todd, at the home of a negress on East Side. Price alleges that as he knocked at the door of the house Todd and two other men rushed out and attacked him. Todd will not say a word, and is trying to keep the matter secret. The negress, Maud Clark, is also under arrest. She was out on bond, on the vagrancy charge, which has effectively cleaned out the tenderloin district, when this new trouble came along and the police pinched her.

In the Superior Court Seaboard Air Line fireman, E. A. Jones wants $25,000 damages. He was directed by the engineer to get off the locomotive and give something to a telegraph operator at a station and as he leaped from the engine his feet struck the wires controlling a switch, he fell and the wheels crushed his arm. The railway claims that he was unduly negligent.

Today a little negro girl, bitten by a mad dog in Aanson county, arrived here for treatment. It was already stated that the dog was killed. The girl is the 146th patient.

Today Mr. Fred Harding, for many years connected with the Raleigh Iron Works, left for Panama, and will be employed in the shops in the canal zone there.

It really looks like there will be a particularly powerful movement for a notable increase in pensions before the next Legislature. Gov. Kitchin warmly favors an increase, and the veterans are urging it in every possible way.

For several months a force of six persons have been at work in the large room on the west side of the third floor of the State capitol, preparing envelopes for holding the deeds and grants for lands, of which there are scores of thousands. Each envelope tells plainly the story of its contents, there being one for each deed. It is an immense work and it has come down as far as the year 1779. The Legislature made an appropriation for the work, but it was not sufficient and soon all of the force will have to be dropped except one expert, Mr. W. B. Bachelor, who will go on with it.

A charter is granted the Dixie Shoe Manufacturing Co., Winston-Salem, capital $160,000, W. F. Miller, Mt. City, Tenn., chief stockholder.

The Governor orders a sperial term of Lee county Superior Court, one week, Nov. 29th, civil docket, Judge Justice.

Adjutant General Armfield is informed that companies from Clinton, Fayetteville, Lumber Bridge, Raleigh, Franklinton, Kinston, Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Washington, Goldsboro, Newbern, Greensboro and other points and bands from Raleigh, Spartanburg and Fort Caswell will be at Wilmington on Taft Day.

The Supreme Court today took up appeals from the tenth district, on which there are only two State cases.

GOOD ROADS TOURISTS

Escort From Atlanta Meets Them at Commerce—Ty Cobb at Home

Commerce, Ga., Nov. 2.—The Journal-Herald good roads automobile tourists received an ovation when they arrived here late this afternoon on the last lap of their long journey from New York to Atlanta. All 44 cars arrived at the checking station on time. The tourists were met by a large party of autoists from Atlanta, who will escort them into the city. It is expected to reach the Journal's office about 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon

Royston, Ga., Nov. 2.—Three hours in advance of the Journal-Herald good roads tourists Ty Cobb rolled into Royston, his home town at 11:30 today and was given a hearty welcome. Cobb and his fellow tourists were guests of the Board of Trade at a luncheon after which they left for Commerce, Ga., where a stop was made for the night.

Convention at New Orleans Adjourned Yesterday—Committee to Induce Congress to Provide Funds to Deepen River.

New Orleans, Nov. 2.—Whether there ever will be another convention of the Lakes to the Gulf Waterways Association depends on what action Congress takes at the next session. If the committee of 500 cannot induce Congress to provide funds for the project the executive committee of the Association is then authorized to select the place of meeting of the next convention and fix the day. This was decided on at the last session of the Association this afternoon.

As a consequence of activity of the entertainment committee scarcely a handful of delegates were in their seats when the convention was called to order today The programme provided for speeches by Governors of States and ministers from Latin-American countries. There were no Governors present.

Those still in the city were reported to be "seeing New Orleans." There were a few representatives from the Latin-American countries, but no minister. Senor Don Arecima, minister of Panama, sent his regrets and his speech. The speech was read by one of the delegates.

Down in the Vieux Carre, the old French quarter, the quaint old cafes, looking exactly as they did one hundred years ago, had for the time being eclipsed the convention hall out of business and dispensers of sazaracs, gin fizzes, absinthe, anisettes and other far-famed New Orleans drinks, were kept working over time

Senor Luis Toledo Herrarte, minister of Guatemala, later put in his appearance at the hall, accompanied by a special commission from his country.

Congressman Richard Bartholdt, of St. Louis, proposed that the committee of 500 provided for yesterday should be headed by President Kavanaugh, and that subcommittees of twelve be named to present the claims of the 500 to the proper officials at Washington.

Mr. Bartholdt explained that a committee of 500 could not get into the White House or any of the committee rooms.

"Well, let them stand outside," said former Governor Francis, of Missouri. They will be able to stand in the corridors.

The convention agreed with Mr. Francis and the 500 will journey to Washington on December 8th.

Five minute talks by delegates followed until adjournment sine die earl in the afternoon.

BLOODSHED IN CAMPAIGN.

Murder at Spring Ford Precinct in Kentucky—Result of Feud.

Jackson, Ky., Nov. 2.—Predictions made on the streets early today that only a "man or two would be killed" during the voting in Breathitt county were justified at noon in the Spring Fork precinct and in a dramatic manner. Tilden Blanton, with a left hand shot and instantly killed Demosthenes Noble after Noble had crippled Blanton's right arm with a bullet.

Noble was a member of a powerful feudal family, a former employe of Judge James Hargis, and complications are expected. Blanton, whose father was Democratic candidate for county attorney, was acting as challenge. The shots were fired while Blanton was leaning from the window of the voting place. He was carried into Jackson to the home of his father and there tacitly arrested.

TAFT URGES SOUTH TO CLOSER UNION

Keynote of His Addresses in Mississippi Towns Yesterday.

GUEST OF BIRMINGHAM TODAY

General Comer and Secretary of War Dickinson Made Speeches With President at Columbus. Evenful Day.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 2.—President Taft's campaign for winning the South to closer union with the States of the North was in full swing when the chief executive reached Birmingham tonight. At various towns in Mississippi, culminating at Columbus, the old home of Secretary of War Dickinson, the President called out the cheers of the people by his declaration of friendship to the South and by the repeated statement that his visit was without political significance. "It is not that we want to make you Republicans," said the President, "or that we want to become Democrats. We all have our views and our tastes in that regard. It is that you shall come to believe that you are as near to the heart of the central Government, as now administered, as any other people in the Union."

The old rebel yell was heard in Columbus when the President spoke as it has not been heard in years. The pretty little town was crowded with excursionists. President Taft's address from a stand erected in Main street seemed to catch the fancy of the crowd and nearly every sentence of his talk was punctuated with cheers.

In speaking of his desire to bring the southern people closer to their neighbors of the North, President Taft declared that the cordial reception he had thus far received convinced him that the South will come more than half way in the encouragement of that sentiment.

The President is to be the guest of Birmingham until tomorrow afternoon. His entertainment began tonight with an elaborate banquet presided over by United States Senator R. F. Johnston. The speakers included General Comer, Secretary of War Dickinson, and the President.

When he arrived in Birmingham, Mr. Taft was met at the station by Mayor O'Brien and a committee of citizens. The streets were thronged. The President has entirely recovered his voice.

In addition to declaring his good will to the people of the South he had a few words to say with reference to marriage and woman's suffrage when he was surrounded on the campus of the Mississippi Girls' Industrial Institute and College by 800 girls, who afterwards helped to serve the President the first barbecue of the tour.

"I wish that every woman in the world was so situated," the President said, "that she need not think it necessary for her to marry if she did not want to."

Mr. Taft said that he would be the last man in the world to put anything in the way of matrimony, but he believed a girl should be situated as to her future as to be able to make a free choice and to look forward to a life of unmixed happiness.

"The great trouble has been that we have not given the women a fair show. We have not opened all the avenues to livelihood that they are quite as well able to fill as we, and in certain respects better able to fill than we."

Taft's Tribune to the South.

In his address at Columbus after paying a tribute to Secretary Dickinson, President Taft said:

"I am glad to be in the city of your great general, Lee. I am indeed sorry it was not given to me to meet him in person and receive that kindly, gentle influence that he shed wherever he moved. I am especially sorry not to be able to come into his presence and to talk of the relations of the South to the rest of the Union, because he represented that spirit which I would invoke on the part of every Southerner with respect to the whole country.

"My friends, one cannot come before a Southern audience, being a Northern man, without having a memory of that which is in the past; and he cannot come in the capacity in which I come, as your people, without thanking God that the past is over; not that we are attacking what the past is, but that we have passed through that awful trial on both sides that certified to the world the fibre of our natures and the strength of our American people; in order to show to the world that we were equal to any of them as a world power.

"You are not in favor war, and I am not in favor war and we will never seek it if we can in any honorable way avoid it. But in the history of Nations, when war becomes inevitable and puts to trial the manhood, the courage, the self sacrifice of a nation, hard and hellish as war is, the test is one to which a people may look back with pride and with thanks to God that they survived the test and showed themselves worthy of enjoying the blessings of such a Government as ours.

"Now you Southern people are an emotional people. We have some emotions in the North too; but if there is any difference your hearts expand more easily and you are more sensitive possibly than we are. In order to understand the Southern people (especially with respect to issues of the war and what grew out of it, in order to understand the present position one must know that your hearts and emotions are broad enough to entertain entire loyalty to the issues of the past which you fought so nobly to sustain, and entire loyalty to our present Government for which you would be willing to lay down your life if occasion required it.

"That is what I believe the Southern nature to be and I am asking your sympathy during an administration already begun."

ZELAYA CLAIMS VICTORIES

Nicaraguan Situation Takes a Turn in Favor of the Government—Honduras Aids in Fight—Intense Situation.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Two victories were claimed over the revolutionary troops by President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, in dispatches sent today to Senor Rodriguez, charge d'affaires of the Nicaraguan legation, in this city

The first cablegram said that yesterday the r volutionary troops abandoned Guapinol, on the Rama river, upon the approach of the regular forces. It was stated in the second dispatch that the revolutionary following had been defeated at the mouth of the San Carlos river and that the government troops had started on a march to San Juan del Norte.

The first authentic information that any of the Central American States had openly taken sides in the revolutionary movement in Nicaragu reached the State Department today. It seems to indicate that Honduras has espoused the cause of the Zelaya government.

In a telegram received today it is stated that the representatives of the Laguna de Perlas Fruit Company, an American concern had had complaint to the legation at Tegucigalpa, Honduras that the government of Honduras has detained a gasoline launch the property of the company—which flew the Nicaraguan flag—which left Bluefields for Livingston after the revolution had started for Puerto Cortes for fuel.

Apparently the dispatches says, the government of Honduras has acted on the ground that the launch belonged to the Nicaraguan revolutionists The ship papers were reported to be regular . It is reported that one Nicaraguan revolutionist was a passenger. There is an impression that the government of Honduras is very favorable to Zelaya, and there are rumors that men, arms and money are being sent from Honduras to his assistance.

In view of this action of the Honduras government attention is called to article two, of the additional convention of the general treaty of peace and amity signed at Washington December 0, 1907, which reads:

"No government of Central America shall in case of Civil war intervene in favor of Oraga, the government of the country where the struggle takes place."

What action if any will be taken by the other Nations signing the Washington convention in case Honduras' action in breaking the agreement is fully established, does not appear, the State Department at this time declining to discuss the matter

GIBBONS ON SUFFRAGE.

Heartily Approves Action Woman's Anti-Suffrage League.

New York, Nov. 2.—In a letter to the National League for the Civic Education of Women an anti-suffrage organization, made public today Cardinal Gibbons says:

"I regret greatly that I cannot attend the meeting called for November 15th, although my many duties will not allow me to be present at your meeting, I beg to assure you that I am most heartily in sympathy with the aim of your league and I approve most strongly the stand it has taken in opposing woman suffrage which if realized would be the death blow of domestic life and happiness.

"Very respectfully,

(Signed) "CARDINAL GIBBONS,
"Archbishop of Baltimore."

Senator Elihu Root also wrote a letter of regret that he was unable to be present in which he expressed his sympathy with the cause and said:

"I think your association is doing very valuable and important work."

THRASHED A SHARPER

Roosevelt's Cousin Caught Him Cheating—Incident of Voyage.

New York, Nov. 2.—Thomas F. Ryan, the financier, Adolphus Busch, the St. Louis brewer, and Enrico Caruso, the tenor, were passengers arriving on the Kron Prinzessin Cecilie, of the Northe G rman Lloyd line, from Bremen today.

An incident of the voyage was a fight in the smoking room when Lieutenant Granville Fortesque, U S. A. (retired) a cousin of former President Rooseveit, detected a sharper cheating at dice, and gave him a thrashing according to an account by several passengers who were in the game at the time

DECIDED AGAINST LABOR LEADERS

Higher Court Affirms Sentence of Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison.

CASE TO HIGHER TRIBUNAL

Opinion of the Court of Appeals President Gompers in New York Makes a Statement—Bucks Stove and Range Case.

Washington, November 2.—The decree of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia adjudging President Samuel Gompers, Secretary Frank Morrison and Vice-President John Mitchell, of the American Federation of Labor, guilty of contempt of court in the Bucks Stove and Range case, was affirmed today by the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia. The case will now be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The court held that the fundamental issue was whether the constitutional agencies of government should be obeyed or defied. The mere fact that the defendants were the officers of organized labor in America, said the court, lent importance to the cause and added to the gravity of the situation, but it should not be permitted to influence the result.

"If an organization of citizens, however large," the court held, "may disobey the mandates of the court, the same reasoning would render them subject to individual defiance. Both are subject to the law and neither is above it. If a citizen, though he may honestly believe that his rights have been invaded, may elect when and to what extent he will obey the mandates of the court and requirements of the law as interpreted by the court, instead of pursuing the orderly course of appeal not only the courts but Government itself would become powerless and society would be reduced to a state of anarchy."

The action of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia in sentencing Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, of the American Federation of Labor, to 12, 9 and 6 months imprisonment in jail, respectively, was the result of the failure of these three defendants to obey the order of the court directing them to desist from placing the Bucks Stove & Range Company, of St. Louis, on their unfair list in the prosecution of their boycott against the corporation.

While the name of the corporation was removed from the unfair list of the Federation, Messrs. Gompers and Mitchell continued to keep alive the boycott by frequent references to it in the Federationist, the official organ of the Federation. Mr. Mitchell was involved in the trouble by reason of his membership in the executive board of the Federation and because it was alleged he had made no effort to prevent the adoption of a resolution by the United Mine Workers of America in antagonism to the Bucks Stove and Range Company. The result of the boycott, it was said, was to cause a decline in the business of the stove and range company of 50 per cent.

The boycott placed by the Federation against the products of the Bucks Stove & Range Company grew out of a fight made by the Metal Polisher's Union and supported by the Federation for an eight instead of a nine-hour day. This was resisted by the company and the Federationist published the name of the Bucks Stove and Range Company, under the caption of "We don't Patronize."

From Mr. Gompers.

New York, Nov. 2.—President Samuel Gompers ,of the American Federation of Labor, issued a statement in regard to the decision in which he says:

"With all due respect to the majority of the court, I cannot surrender constitutionally guaranteed rights because a judge will issue an injunction invading and denying these rights. Chief Justice Sheppard's dissenting opinion is in defense of the constitutional and inherent rights Minority opinions of courts in the past in which human rights have been invaded have ultimately prevailed before the law of the land and the generally accepted rule of life, and I have an abiding afith that the rule in this case will prove no exception.

"If I must go to jail I shall have the consciousness of the fact that other men have in the past been compelled to suffer in defense of justice and right in the cause of humanity and for the maintenance of human liberty.

"I intended to stay over here tomorrow to finish up my report for the annual convention at Toronto and also to attend the wedding of the daughter of a very dear friend of mine, but I am going to change my plans and shall leave so I can get into Washington as soon as I can I want to be within the jurisdiction of the court whatever disposal is made of the case."

Mr. VanCleave's Statement.

St. Louis, Nov. 2.—J. W. VanCleave, president of the Bucks Stove & Range Company, today in a statement concerning the decision in the case of Gompers, Morrison and Mitchell said: "The assault upon me by the American Federation of Labor in 1906 was plotted in cold blood. I was assailed not as an individual but as president of the National Association of Manufacturers. The federation did this in order to show its power. It aimed to strike teror into everybody outside its own ranks—workers, employers, and the general public alike, and to coerce the President of the United States, the Congress and the courts, Federal and State, to do its bidding.

"Supposing that the leaders of the federation would desist from their attacks upon our business when enjoined by the court, I was amazed when to disobedience they added open and ostentatious defiance. And let it be remembered that thees violators of law and these assailants of the courts were not individual offenders, but acted in the name of the two million persons whom they claim to be members of their league. What would the country think if the head of any great industrial, commercial or transportation interest should violate the law as these men have done and should challenge the courts to carry out the law and to enforce their decrees?

"It must be remembered that these men are not convicted because of their attempt to destroy the business of the Bucks Stove & Range Company, but because they openly defied the order of the Federal Court."

JUSTICE GAYNOR'S CAREER

New Mayor of New York and Something of Him.

New York, Nov. 2.—William J. Gaynor who now becomes mayor of Greater New York was elected on the strength of his personal record as a jurist and his stand for personal liberty and a liberal Sunday. Although the Tammany candidate, he maintained throughout the campaign that no boss shall dictate to him, and one of his favorite remarks was that if there was to be any swallowing between him the Tiger he would ultimately be found on the outside Gaynor was prominently mentioned as a Democratic vice presidential possibility last year and in 1894, he declined the Democratic nomination for Governor of New York. He has been a near-candidate for mayor of New York for years, but as he expressed himself to friends he wanted to be sure of election—to be elected mayor and then Governor with a view to becoming some day president of the United States.

Justice Gaynor, who is now 58 years old married and the father of eight children, first attained prominence in connection with a tax payer's suit which he caused to be brought against Hugh McLaughlin, one time Democratic boss of Brooklyn, in the course of which he saved the city 1,000,000

His pressing of the charges against Police Commissioner Bingham growing out of the Duffy case, involving the right of the police to hold the picture of an unconvicted person in the Rogues' gallery, led directly to the removal of General Bingham and brought Gaynor into renewed public attention just before the fall campaign opened

ROAD BUILDING IN SOUTH.

Department of Agriculture Preparing to Send Experts Here.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—The office of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture is preparing to send an engineer and a photographer on a tour, beginning November 1, through most of the Southern States, for the purpose of securing accurate data, with explanatory photographs, showing the present status of road building and maintenance in the South. The exact itinerary has not yet been arranged, but it is probable that the party will follow the line of the Southern Railway, through Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Alabama, to Memphis, thence down through the Delta country to New Orleans and thence eastward through Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, and up the Atlantic seaboard.

The investigation will result in the assembling of much interesting and useful data, not only as to the extent of road building in the South, but the opportunities for improvement. From the standpoint of the road builder the tour will be exceedingly instructive, as it will afford opportunity for a comparative study of crushed stone, gravel, sand-clay, shell and other types of road under various conditions of climate, topography and traffic; and in addition to this, careful observations will be made of the experimental burnt-clay roads in the Mississippi Delta, and of the oiled burnt-clay road at Greenville, Mississippi, constructed under the supervision of the United States Office of Public Roads. The use of convict labor in road work will also be made a subject of careful study, as well as the economic results following the expenditure of large sums of money for road building in many of the Southern counties.

As the itinerary has not been definitely determined upon, it is possible that changes will be made from time to time in accordance with requests of various communities, who may desire to be represented in this Government report.

Because his wife killed herself by hanging instead of committing harikari, Umekichi Mitsu, a wealthy Japanese, faced a murder charge Monday at Bellingham, Washn., but was released yesterday after a verdict of suicide had been rendered by a coroner's jury. Mitsu testified that he had concealed the suicide to prevent the disgrace which must fall on his sons in Japan should it be learned that the mother had hanged herself.

general ticket here today was overshadowed by that in the proposed amendment to the State constitution intended to disfranchise the negroes and practically all estimates and comparisons have this as a basis. The ticket was complicated, the easiest to vote requiring 18 marks, hence the count was very slow.

Chairman Murray Vandiver of the Democratic State Committee said at 1 A. M. that he was entirely at sea as to the result of the vote on the amendment, and preferred to say nothing. He said that the Democrats had carried the entire Eastern Shore for the general ticket and that he was entirely satisfied with the conditions relative thereto throughout the entire State.

After midnight Republican State Chairman Hann estimated that the amendment is defeated in city and State by from 6,000 to 10,000, this estimate being based upon meagre returns.

New York, Nov. 2.—At 11:30 o'clock returns for district attorney of New York county from 590 of the 918 election districts gave Whitman, Republican-fusion, a plurality of 8,181 over Battle, Democrat. This indicates a plurality of about 13,000 for Judge Whitman.

Indiana Elections.

Indianapolis, Nov. 2.—In the municipal elections held throughout Indiana today the Republicans scored several important victories, the most vital of which was Indianapolis. Samuel Lewis Shank, the Republican candidate for mayor, and the entire Republican ticket, were elected by majorities ranging from 1,000 to 1,500. The Republicans were successful at Evansville, Richmond and Crawfordsville. The Democrats carried South Bend, Muncie, LaFayette and probably Terre Haute.

Mayor Johnson Gives Up.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 2.—At 9:45 Mayor Tom L. Johnson conceded his defeat by about 1,500. He said: "It looks as if I am beaten. I will be a candidate for mayor two years from today."

Some Earlier Reports.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 2.—It is many years since Massachusetts voters were evenly divided on the question of State government as in today's election. With about two-thirds of the State accounted for Governor Draper, Republican, will apparently have a margin over his Democratic opponent, James H. Vahey, of about 10,000 compared with 60,000 a year ago. It also appeared that Lieutenant Governor Frothingham, Republican, had been reelected by about the same plurality, although last year he swept the State leading Governor Draper and deefating his Democratic opponent by over 90,000.

Throughout the campaign the Republicans were on the defensive in upbuilding Governor Draper's administration and in supporting his veto of the eight-hour bill for public employes. This action solidified the labor forces against them. General apathy on the part of the Republican voters in the country districts was also regarded as partly responsible for the heavy reduction in the vote.

From Virginia.

Richomnd, Va., Nov. 2.—With returns in from half the cities and counties of the State the indications are that Judge William Hodges Mann, the Democratic candidate for Governor, has been elected over W. P. Kent, the Republican nominee by about 23,000 majority. Bryan's majority over Taft in 1908 was about 30,000.

There was a considerable falling off from the vote polled last year, but the total ballot probably will be larger than was anticipated.

While Judge Mann is running ahead of the remainder of the Democratic ticket, all other party candidates have been elected by safe majorities.

B. O. Jones, who was nominated almast at the last moment in place of D. Q. Eggleston, Democratic candidate for secretary of the commonwealth, who died after the ballots had been printed, is running well up and undoubtedly has been elected. The Republicans had strong hopes of electing their candidate for this office, John B. Locke, because of the necessity of Democratic voters' scratching out the name of Eggleston and having to write in that of James.

In several of the Richmond precincts James led Mann, indicating that Mann was scratched while the voters took the trouble to write the name of James on the ticket.

Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Republican headquarters concede the re-election of Mayor Whitlock, independent, by probably 2,500 plurality.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 2.—Returns complete from all but two small precincts in Richmond city give Mann 3,174, Kent, 705. Four years ago Richmond city gave Swanson 3,038, Lewis 374.

San Francisco Election.

San Francisco, Nov. 2.—With about one-sixth of the total vote counted late tonight P. H. McCarthy, Union Labor candidate for mayor, had a lead over both his opponents that if maintained would give him a plurality of about 10,000.

Leland, Democratic candidate, and Crocker, Republican, were nearly a tie for second place.

On the same basis of vote count, Charles M. Fickert, Republican and union labor nominee for district attorney, was leading Francis J. Heney nearly 2 to 1.

THE STATE IN EPITOME

¶News, Comment and Incidents as Reflected in the North Carolina Press. : : : : : :

Sheriff Julian Critically Ill.

His many friends in all parts of the State will be pained to learn of the sudden and serious illness of "Sheriff" Julian, of Salisbury. The Salisbury Post says: "Mr. D. R. Julian, who was stricken by a sudden illness early Thursday morning of last week, remains in a precarious condition this afternoon, though hope is entertained for him. Mrs. Dorothy Hayden, of Greensboro, one of the most skilled trained nurses in the State, was summoned Saturday afternoon and is in attendance upon Mr. Julian."

Salisbury Bonds Bring Premium.

Salisbury Post: The waterworks bonds amounting to $20,000 were sold at noon today at a special meeting of the city aldermen held in the city hall. They are 5 per cent. gold bearing bonds and are secured by a mortgage on the waterworks plant. The bonds were bought by E. H. Rollins & Sons, of Boston, Mass. The purpose of the sale is to make improvements, extension, etc. The bonds brought a premium of $956.20, bringing $1,047.81 per bond of $1,000. The contract of the sale is par, accrued interest and premium which amounts to figures given.

FOR INCREASED PENSIONS.

Governor Kitchin Wants the State to Increase the Appropriation.

(News and Observer.)

In his address at the dedication of the Confederate monument in Oxford Saturday, Governor Kitchin expressed the hope that the State would increase the appropriation for pensions to Confederate veterans. He quoted the enormous figures showing how much the North is paying to veterans of the Civil War and the immense number of these pensioners today—twice as many as served in the entire Southern army. He reminded the ex-Confederates that before the Northern veteran could receive a pension he was required to take oath that he was either disabled or made sick by the Confederates.

Comrade Ben Collins, of Warren county, who heard the Governor in Oxford, declared that it was the best Confederate oration he had heard "since the war."

When the Governor referred to the fact that his own father had left Emery and Henry College, in Virginia, to enter the army, going to Norfolk, where he joined the Granville company, Capt. George Daniel, who was on the front row of listeners, "spoke out in meeting," declaring that he had seen Buck Kitchin that day, and that he wore a "beaver and duster," and another old veteran declared that he also had seen the Governor's father join the company. Dr. Sam D. Booth, who was at the head of the Ku Klux Klan in Granville county, was one of the Governor's auduster," and another old veteran devid eloquence of the Chief Executive. On Saturday morning Mrs. J. H. White, to whom rightly goes the credit for the erection of the beautiful monument, received the following telegram from Gen. Julian S. Carr, who was expected to participate in the exercises: "I am profoundly sorry that it will be impossible for me to be with you tomorrow. God bless you in the good work you have accomplished to the memory of the men who made the name of North Carolina immortal. I have wired my secretary to remit $50."

OPPOSITION TO RALEIGH.

Western North Carolina Wants a Fair of Its Own.

(Special to Greensboro News.)

Hickory, Oct. 30.—As the outcome of the successful county fair, held here October 15, it has been suggested that Western North Carolina hold a fair of its own. The idea is that all that section west of Statesville come together and organize a Western North Carolina Fair Association. Western North Carolina is now claimed to be the most progressive and prosperous part of the State, and its possibilities are unlimited. The best way to do this, it is believed, would be to hold a general fair where the people of the different counties could bring together their live stock, poultry and agricultural products without the trouble and expense of getting it to the eastern part of the State. The stock raising advantages of Watauga county, for instance, are equalled by no county in Eastern North Carolina, but the cost of getting his stock to Raleigh is more than the Watauga farmer feels justified in expending. The same can be said of any of the western counties. As the citizens of Hickory began this movement, and as Hickory can offer an ideal location for it, the Hickory people think it should be held in Hickory. Hickory has the necessary railroad facilities, water, sewerage and power advantages, and there seems to be no reason why it should not be held here. With the endorsement of the other towns of this section, the Western North Carolina Fair is almost certain to materialize.

HOG-BEAR KILLED.

Corn Destroyer Shot Down by D. P. Whitford, Near Askins.

(Newbern Sun.)

Mr. D. P. Whitford, a prominent farmer of this county, and living near Askins, which place is within 15 miles of Newbern, on the north side of Neuse river, brought to this city this morning a large hog-bear, which he killed last evening about 7:30 o'clock just outside of his field. Mr. Whitford was taking a stroll through his acreage yesterday and discovered some bear tracks, and found where his corn was being badly injured by the bears. He decided, that though it was Sunday, the sooner he stopped this kind of business, the better off he would be, and consequently went to the house for his gun. Along with his gun he carried a small ladder; this he used to aid him in climbing a large tree close by. A short while after Mr. Whitford seated himself in the tree, two small cubs came out and ascended the ladder and were playing around so promiscuously that Mr. Whitford had to reach his gun down to them and push the little fellows off the ladder, for fear they might be the cause of the old bear detecting. Soon after they had disappeared around in the bushes, and within an hour's time afte he had taken his seat, the old big bear came strolling along as if there was no one in a hundred miles of him. When the animal had gotten within about 25 yards Mr. Whitford took good aim and let both barrels of his gun loose at one time. That ended the corn stealing with him.

PEARSON ON BIRDS.

Loss From Insects, Food of Birds, Billion Dollars Annually.

(Winston-Salem Journal.)

Mr. T. Gilbert Pearson, of Greensboro, president of the North Carolina Audobon Society, gave a thoroughly entertaining and instructive lecture in the Memorial Hall of the college last night, the lecture being given under the auspices of the Moravian Brotherhood. The hall was packed, and it would seem that the people appreciate fully the efforts of the brotherhood in bringing prominent speakers and lecturers here. Mr. Pearson used numerous stereopticon views of birds and scenes that he and his friends had photographed. He told of the great good that birds do in destroying insects, and made it perfectly plain that it's far from a purely sentimental motive that the Audobon Society is working as hard for the preservation of sertain species of birds. He declared that the loss from insects was a billion dollars annually. Among the birds that should be preserved, Mr. Pearson excepted in most emphatic terms the English sparrow. In no uncertain tone he paid his respects to this little pest, but told his hearers, with a note of despair in his voice, that they might as well not waste their time in trying to exterminate the English sparrow. Mr. Pearson has, it seems, had some experience in trying to rid his own immediate locality of them.

MILLS TO CONTINUE.

No Curtailment of Wadesboro Manufacturing.

(Special to News and Observer.)

Wadesboro, Nov. 1.—While the cotton mill men in different sections are talking of shutting down on account of the high price of cotton, the Wadesboor comanies are preparing to go steadily on. President C. M. Burns states that he has no idea of closing his mill and insists that the price of cotton would not be materially altered if the mills did close. Mr. Burns is buying cotton every day and putting it in his warehouse for future needs and expects to see cotton go still higher. The Wadesboro mill is making some money for the stockholders even at the present price owing to the splendid management. The committee which is at work on the project for another and larger mill is receiving encouragement and the prospect is bright for the success of the enterprise. It is proposed to put up a $200,000 plant, with the best equipment for weaving. The early completion of the Southbound and the consequent cheapened rates on coal will give Wadesboro the opportunity of one of the best locations for mill concerns in the State.

REPORTED HIS OWN SUICIDE.

Ruse of a Winston Lover to Get His Bearings.

(Winston-Salem Journal.)

"Where there's a will there's always a way." Somestimes means are tried to bring about certain results. If these fail, then others are resorted to. It seems in this instance that other means were tried and failed to produce the desired effect. The ultimatum of what would have been the ultimatum, if the report had been true, was tried. A young man in the city and his best girl had a quarrel, as lovers sometimes do. The young man went out in the country and 'phoned one of his friends that he (the young man), had committed suicide. The friend recognizing his voice, told him he would do nothing of the kind. The friend told his sister, who decided to have some fun and delivered the message to the young lady. The young lady almost went into hysterics and barely escaped a swoon. It remains to be seen whether the quarrel is settled peaceably or whether the difference is greater. There is nothing like being resourceful when you want to find out where you stand.

TOOK IT AS A JOKE.

Agitation Against Dr. Mann Caused Merriment Among the Aldermen.

(Special to Greensboro News.)

Durham, Nov. 1.—The protest of "citizens and taxpayers" against Dr. Thomas A. Mann was heard by the Board of Aldermen tonight as a joke. Dr. Mann is health officer in the employ of the health department, and is not responsible for any act of that body which works independently of the Board of Aldermen. The attack upon the health officer was the subject of much merriment yesterday, especially after Dr. Mann's friends got together and petitioned the Board of Aldermen not to remove him. As the board of health has put him up to every act of its administration, it is responsible, albeit the publication of the names of the board, embodying the best known private citizens here, the agitation against Mann has stopped.

According to the Montgomery Advertiser, the proposed constitutional amendment in Alabama which has attracted attention all over the country for its fanatical extremism "is facing certain defeat." The Advertiser would not make such a statement except from honest and well-reasoned conviction that the measure is indeed doomed. We can well believe that the sincere prohibitionists of Alabama deplore, as the Advertiser says they do, the fight into which they have been led.—Charlotte Observer.

THE CLEAN MAN WON.

The result of the New York election is to bring a clean man safely through a dirty campaign.

Starting with vigor, the fight finally exceeded all the bounds of decency and degenerated into the most fla grant hysteria.

Gaynor was sought to be made the scape-goat of the ancient and modern sins of Tammany Hall; he was subjected to slander and vituperation; he was all but submerged in the sewage pouring from the open flood gates of the Hearst cess pool. In this plan of attack, Hearst was ably assisted by the Republican candidate, usually an ineffective but gentlemanly sort of campaigner. Of course, when it comes to rough and tumble fighting, Tammany is more than pleased. Murphy and the others flung themselves with gusto into the flying muck of battle. Justice Gaynor himself was unsparing of epithet. The entire campaign was, in more senses than one, a reproach to all who engaged in it.

But as we said, the clean man won The next Mayor of New York is in some sort uncouth. He has the arrogance of conscious power. He has the intemperance of strong beliefs. He is a fighter who sees red and, in the heat of battle, asks nor gives quarter In many respects his personality is unattractive. Yet, with it all, his honesty is unquestioned, his courage undoubted, and his ability admitted even by the most bitter of his enemies. To attempt to prejudice such a man's chances of election by the circulation of sensational and obscene stories intimating that, as Tammany's candidate, he would be committed to a profit in the "white slave" traffic was a tactical mistake that we felt sure would prove a deadly boom-errang. That it did so prove, indicates that there is more purity left in New York than the conduct of its campaign might have seemed to indicate.

The intensity of the fight was assured by the potentialities of the result which has come to pass. A year hence, Gaynor will be the Democratic candidate for Governor of New York He is stronger in the State than he was thought to be in the city. He will make a virile and effective campaign. Should he be elected Governor and start popularly upon his administration, nothing could prevent his nomination in 1912 as the Democratic candidate for the Presidency. It was because the interests fearful of a stern man of rectitude feared just this development that the fight to prevent his election as Mayor was waged with so desperate a fervor. Yesterday's result in the New York election may yet be written large in the history of the nation.

Live and learn. Says the Winston-Salem Journal: "Two theatrical companies have stranded in this State, and it is to be noted that they were among the best on the road. Salomy Jane went broke in Durham and the Merchant of Venice in Greensboro. It is a sad commentary on the theatre-going public that Shakespeare's plays cannot be produced in this section." We were not before aware that Shakespeare was to be credited with the authorship of Salomy Jane.

And Willie Randolph Hearst ran behind both tickets, notwithstanding the fact that Samuel J. Tilden patted him on the head when he was a boy! Not even a pat from a great man is potent to make a cur successful in the pose of a lion.

The Charlotte Observer, with commendable enterprise, has come to the relief of the Georgia editors by finding a correspondent who claims to have caught a horned snake. The gentleman, however, is a veteran—of the Spanish war.

When did Republican papers, like the Greensboro News, learn to call Vance and Ransom "old Romans of '76?" Who put one Marion Butler in the seat of Vance, and nominated Spencer Adams for the same position?

Jeremiah Gibson, one of the men held in contempt by the Supreme Court, is 76 years old. In his case, life imprisonment will doubtless be the only adequate punishment.

THE LONG ARM OF THE SUPREME COURT.

There must be a most sickening finality about finding one's self in contempt of the Supreme Court of the United States. As the old negro doorkeeper at the Washington court room once remarked to an insistent visitor, who was aggrieved at not being permitted to sit within the railing of the bar: "Yo' bettah ca'm yosef, boss! Case, ef yo' gits contempshus wif dis Cote, dere haint nobody ter 'peal to cep Gawd!"

For this very reason the final decision in the contempt attachment against Sheriff Shipp and six citizens of Chattanooga is, on account of the circumstances out of which it arose, of great and vital interest to the country at large. The Supreme Court is a law to itself, and it is only the profound realization of its responsibility as the final forum in all matters respecting not only rights of person and of property, but of government itself, that has preserved it as a beneficent, rather than a tyrannical body. Socialists and the extremer sort of labor unions to the contrary, it is only revolution that can question its decrees, and only war that can annul them. The Supreme Court has been overruled in only one instance, and then only by the cataclysm of four years of civil strife. The Government, waxing stronger, adds strength to its master, converting the judicial monarch of the land into a sort of pedestalled position as buffer between the liberties of the people and the encroachment of the laws. Surely, when one finds himself under the ban of the high court at Washington, it is high time to bow to the inevitable.

Nevertheless, we will be mistaken if the punishment of Sheriff Shipp will not "cause general apprehension throughout the country. In his case even the Supreme Court took a long step in the assumption of jurisdiction. Shipp was not in the court, nor near it. He violated none of its injunctions. He interfered with none of its processes. He was merely a Tennessee sheriff, in charge, by virtue of his office, of a negro prisoner under sentence of death by a Tennessee State court. In pursuance of its right and long practice, the Supreme Court, at Washington, consented to consider the negro's appeal, thus staying his execution. And immediately upon the receipt of this news by telegraph a mob formed, stormed the jail, took away the prisoner from the sheriff, and lynched him. Upon these facts the Court proceeded aginst Shipp and others for contempt in lynching the prisoner, or permitting him to be lynched. It found as a fact that Shipp was complaisant, and, by divided opinion, held that such conduct was contempt of court. On Monday the motion of Shipp and his co-defendants, for a rehearing, was overruled, and the marshal was directed to have them before the Court on November 15 for sentence, which may be fine, or imprisonment, or both in the discretion of the Court.

It will be noted that these men were not in any sense directly in relation to the process or sittings of the Court. On the contrary, they had never been brought into contact with its administration. The sheriff had no certified copy of its judgment. He was a State's officer, in charge of a State's prisoner. In addition, the finding of the facts by the Supreme Court was equivalent to finding him guilty of a high crime, without the benefit of indictment or trial by jury. If he was overwhelmed by armed force, he was certainly not in contempt; if he stood by without effort at resistance, he was with equal certainty guilty at least of complicity in an unjustifiable homicide by lynching. Almost the only ground upon which the Supreme Court could have interfered with the verdict and sentence of the Tennessee court in the first instance was that the prisoner had not been tried according to the constitutionally guaranteed right of "due process of law." That being true, Sheriff Shipps will be pardoned for having his doubts about the regularity of the proceeding under which he is to be sentenced upon a judicial finding of facts making him guilty of a felony.

It is permissible, in view of the very potent minority in the decision of this case, to say that we do not believe that the principle announced will meet a pleasant reception at the hands of American public opinion. As a straw showing the breaking up of that admirable restraint in the exercise of power which has distinguished the Supreme Court, the decision is disconcerting and forbidding. However, it is now the law, and it will, at any rate, doubtless have a cooling effect upon such defiance-breathing individuals as Gompers, and such immature revolutionists as Comer. It may also serve to impress upon the public mind that, grateful as it is or is not to the average sensibility, the arm of the Government is long, and that of the Supreme Court even longer.

Greensboro is evidently not to be satisfied by physicians' prescriptions. According to the Record, they are now importing the stuff by the wagon-load.

Ty Cobb claims North Carolina parentage. It is now in order to add to the State's slogan, "Highest in batting average."

NO BUNCO FOR TAFT.

Is it ever justifiable to throw a gentle scare into a person of authority for the purpose of influencing decision? Though not put in words, this is the question underlying an editorial in the Charlotte Observer, under the title, "With Taft on the Cape Fear," in which it is suggested that a series of near-accidents, accidental groundings, etc., might have a valuable effect in fixing the Presidential thought upon the high importance of immediate steps looking to the completion of the thirty-foot channel to the sea.

The editorial is suggested by the series of mishaps that followed one another with remarkable regularity during the recent trip of the Presidential party down the Mississippi. The "Oleander," the river steamer entrusted with the person of the Nation's Executive was never tired of "lying down," from one cause or another. Sandbars brought the triumphal progress of the procession to more than one sudden and irritating halt. The river bed seemed to change over night. Never was a more striking series of illustrations afforded of the urgent need of something being done for the Mississippi, and at once. Suspecting some canny play on the part of the wily river pilots, the Observer throws this tempting morsel in our direction:

"The Wilmington people might take a hint from the occurrences on the Mississippi, and when they take the President and party down the Cape Fear to Fort Caswell at its mouth the scraping on bottom in one or two shoal places or the missing of the channel in some short bend might do much to convince Mr. Taft and such Congressmen as accompany him of the great need for an appropriation by Congress sufficient to secure the greatly desired thirty-foot channel to the sea."

Thanks for the thought, but we are not from Oklahoma! Neither is this community thrown off its feet by the recent advent of Buffalo Bill to the extent of wishing to throw the lasso, fan the trigger of the festive six shooter, or engage in any of those more eastern but none the less wooly exploits peculiar to river pirates. Mr. Taft is recently from Missouri, and we are glad of it. We have got the goods to show. When he steams down the broad expanse of the Cape Fear, with its 24-foot channel, he will see lying at our wharves steamers bound for almost every continental port of importance, all loaded with fourteen and fifteen-cent cotton, with cargoes representing in each instance a value more than the average deposits of the average Southern bank. He will see a noble river stretching from an adequate harbor at the docks of a thriving city to another ideal harbor for the navy of the country at the very gate to the sea! If he has ordinary imagination, he will see not only the advantages of these harbors and the rivers that connect them, considered in the light of governmental needs, but he will see also the completion of the Panama Canal, the multiplication of the traffic, the increase of commerce that will entirely fit within his dictum of development sufficient to justify improvement, even if the government shall have to issue bonds to make it.

Wilmington will welcome Mr. Taft because she wishes to see the President, and because she wishes the President to see her and her surroundings. Our case will be confidently rested with the honesty of purpose of any open-eyed man. There will be no "spling bloke, by Gad!" accidents, or Bludsoe "hold her nozzle agin' the shore" heroics when Taft goes down the Cape Fear. We will take him down safely and bring him back the same way, a wiser man.

SLANDER OF A FINE GAME.

With its characteristic negligence as to accurate statement, the News and Observer thus comments upon the death by accident at football of Cadet Eugene A. Byrne, of West Point:

"The death of the cadet from West Point has cast such a gloom over the military academy that all games have been annulled. The game of football is more fatal than the game of war. The rules ought to be changed and the game deprived of its present dangers."

That the "game of football is more fatal than the game of war," is a statement so glaringly untruthful as to have no weight whatever, save possibly with such of the readers of the News and Observer as know as little concerning the game as the man who is thus condemning it. What does the News and Observer know about the rules that it so sagely suggests ought to be changed? What changes would it suggest? On what does it base its statement as to the relative casualties of gridiron contests and armed campaigns? South American revolutions? We have no idea that the News and Observer itself believes what it says, yet, because it circulates among patrons of colleges, it may and will create a false impression and an unfair prejudice.

As matter of fact, fatal accidents in football are no more frequent than in baseball, considering the number of players engaged. So many more people play baseball that it would not be fair to compare casualties unproportionately. The sport of swimming takes yearly its toll of hundreds of young lives. Hunting has its death list annually, appalling in the aggregate. Even "Marathon" running, and the hundred yard dash, furnish every year their victims to over-exertion. There has never been, and never will be, an active, strong and vigorous game that has not paid the price in human life for the good it did to human minds and bodies.

Football is in many respects more than a game. It is a state of mind. It is a wholesome state of mind. It demands and obtains from those who play it a clean and regular life. It demands the stamina of manhood as a requisite of efficiency. To the players it gives that poise that comes only in perfection to the man who must think quickly and accurately and combine with thought the instant conformity of the body. To the student body behind the team it gives the impulse of patriotism and the example of an army embracing personal sacrifice for the sake of the common honor.

It is no new thing for a football player to be killed, as it is no new thing for a player at almost any other game to suffer fatal accident. West Point's determination not to play again this season is an expression of personal grief, rather than of a change of policy. The management of the Academy knew that it was well within the bounds of possibility that that might happen which did happen. They permitted the risk for the sake of the advantage. A man whose son should be accidentally killed while hunting at his side would scarcely feel like shouldering gun himself the next day; yet he would be a narrow man who, under such circumstance of sorrow, would condemn hunting as a fatal practice for boys.

Let us try to be sane and to be fair, even to football.

RAILROADS AND JURIES.

We believe in fair treatment of railroads, as of all other persons, natural or artificial. Because the railroads may have been at times unjust, at times negligent of the needs of the communities they traverse, at times exacting in rates and uncertain in deliveries, is no warrant for retaliatory legislation. Corrective acts are not only proper, but necessary, but even they ought to be passed in a spirit divorced from passion. The railroad has now attained such a position in relation to the public that it will no sooner be permitted to stop running its trains than private enterprise would be permitted to drain and render useless to the public service a navigable stream. In the case of so necessary an incident of commerce and civilization it is manifest that there ought to be an earnest desire to act toward the railroad in a spirit of absolute equity, conceived upon sound economic principle.

That this course has not always been followed, either in State or national relations, is matter of history useless to elaborate. On the other hand, there has grown up, with respect to the courts, a sentiment that the spirit of "sticking the railroad" is abroad in the land, especially when juries have the deciding voice. It is common experience to hear, when a verdict of damages is returned, satirical comment indicating that the railroad cannot get justice where it is a defendant in a case of personal injury. And this sentiment, if it can be called such, in favor of the railroad is quite as widespread as the other much contemned sentiment against the railroad, as such. Yet, as against this prevalent idea, examine this record of suits of all kinds aginst the Southern Railroad, in the county of Forsyth, stated by the Winston Journal:

"Since the first train ran over the Southern track in this city on the 4th of July, 1873, there have been 223 suits against the road, this including damage suits, penalty suits and all other cases. This is an average of a little over six per year. The straight judgments rendered against the road aggregate $24,275.25, the largest judgment being for $4,250. Numbers of the suits were non-suited or dismissed."

Unfortunately, it is not stated how many of these suits for damages were decided by juries in favor of the railroad; it is not stated what aggregate amount was sued for, nor have we a statement of the character or circumstances distinguishing those suits in which damages were recovered. It is sufficient to know that in thirty-six years there were about six suits started a year, in which the plaintiffs recovered only in a small proportion; that, taking all character of suits into consideration, the average recovery a year has been less than a thousand dollars.

One severe verdict is apt to create a wrong impression and to be responsible for a prejudice against the people, concerning their attitude towards the railroads, as unjust as the prejudice against the railroads, often created by nothing more serious on their part than the operation of their business in a manner deaf to the politician. Unfortunately, railroads that have dabbled in politics have earned a prejudice against themselves; as juries eager to convict have occasionally cast reflection upon the people whom they misrepresent. But, taking it by and large, the prejudice is not justified either way.

THESE are great times we are living in; the mystery of aerial navigation seems to be just on the edge of being solved; a few years more and we'll be traveling through the air with as much unconcern and security as we now ride in a railroad train.

Progress seems to be the dominant idea of the times; new discoveries, new triumphs of science; new wonders all along the line. But when you come to clothes—and we all have to come to clothes, every day, and probably will for a good many years—when you come to clothes you'd better come here and get into a

In dealing with our perplexing race problem, however, we must be guided by wisdom and courage and not by hysterics. We have no higher duty than that of preserving racial purity, but the great danger here is not political but moral.

Let us remember this, and in politics see to it that we follow leaders who stand for issues and movements that will help the people and build up the South. It is not the man who can remember the names of most voters, or flatter the people most at the political rally, or holler loudest and gesticulate most fiercely, but it is the man who is going to do something to give us better schools and better roads and who will help along all the forward movements that will build up our communities.

The South has never suffered half so much from an overproduction of cotton as from an overproduction of wordy orators more intent on flattering the people than on serving them.

You see a man sometimes who seems to be afraid of taking a stand upon any question until he finds out which is the popular side. He is a coward: let him alone. You see other speakers who depend on abuse rather than argument: they insult your intelligence and should also be let alone. We have had too many politicians of both classes; let us now have a new sort of leader.

Epsom salts is said to be the cure for the hookworm. One million dollars worth of that stuff ought to cure a stack of patients.—Salisbury Post.

As Charlotte will not have anything unusual on hand the early part of next week, it will be in order for our people to take a run down to Wilmington and see how the people of that town will manage a Taft affair.—Charlotte Chronicle.

The Observer desires to repeat a question which Savoyard, writing upon Vance, has just propounded. Why doesn't some Israelite like Simon Wolf circulate "The Scattered Nation" widely? If any other set of people had such a tribute paid them the world would be made to hear about it continually.—Charlotte Observer.

We wish to state here again that this paper belongs to no clique or faction. We reserve the right to be as independfent as a hog in a mud puddle, and say just what we think on matters of public interest. We are not running this paper with the expectation of being patronized by wind-broken, stringtailed, wildeyed ignoramuses for we don't want dealings with such. We publish this sheet for sensible, honorable free thinking people, and thousands of such read paper every week. It will continue to ladle out logic for the wise or make a bluff at it anyway.—Square Deal.

No matter what sort of work you are doing, try to do it a little better than the other fellow. Emerson says somewhere that if a man can do anything supremely well, no matter if he live in a wilderness, the world will make a beaten path to his door. And this is very true. I rode the other day to see a farmer who lives not many miles from where I am writing and found that the Governor of the State had just been there to see his corn crop, and a great number of other men had come miles and miles to see this man's farm. And why? Simply because he had done more with an acre than any other man in the county.—Progressive Farmer.

Pennsylvania, especially Philadelphia, is greatly concerned over the adoption of Maryland's constitutional amendment shutting out the negro vote, but this concern is not based on a high motive by any means. Philadelphia is overrun with negroes and it is said if Maryland deprives the negro of his vote they will move over and take charge of the Quaker City, which already has a "race problem" on its hands. Chickens will come home to roost. Philadelphia was the capital of the "underground" railroad before the war and from the actions of the people they loved the colored man with undying devotion. But too much of a good thing is calculated to make even a dog sick.—Greensboro Record.

The man or woman who fails to show up at Wilmington November 9, on the occasion of President Taft's visit to that most splendid and hospitable city in North Carolina will miss the opportunity of their life of witnessing the greatest pageant of grandeur and splendor that ever has been pulled off inside the borders of North Carolina. Wilmington doesn't do things by halves, the people there are not your half way push, they are the whole thing and when Mr. Taft leaves Wilmington he will long remember the day he fell into the arms of North Carolina's grandest and greatest city. Its going to be dazzling. Wilmington is expending many thousands of dollars preparatory to the great day. Go and see how Wilmington people do things.—Snow Hill Square Deal.

When Colonel Bryan proposes to read the traitors out of the Democratic party, the aforesaid traitors are in the habit of taking it meekly. Only one of them that we know of has had the courage to raise his bristles and that one is a North Carolina Senator. But it is different when it comes to Speaker Cannon and his crowd. The Speaker recently delivered a kick at La Follette and he gets a pretty strong one in return. La Follette declines to be read out of the Republican party by any such "a grim and snarling old wolf' as Speaker Cannon. We insist that this characterization of the Speaker is something new and refreshing. The "Czar of the House" had become old and shop-worn and so had many of the other pet names that had been applied to the Speaker from time to time. La Follette has given the country a new one and one that looks like a good fit.—Charlotte Chronicle.

POLICE AND FIRE COMMISSION

Short Session Held Yesterday Afternoon—Reports Received and Other Business Transacted in Regular Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Police and Fire Commission was held at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon with Chairman Wm. E. Springer presiding and all members in attendance. There was no special business of importance and the Commission was in session less than 30 minutes.

The report of Chief Schnibben, of the Fire Department, showed that during October nine alarms were responded to, causes being as follows: Sparks from chimney, 5; unknown, 2; defective flue, 1; hot ashes, 1. The total amount of fire losses of the month will not exceed $1,000. Chief Schnibben reported with regret the death of Foreman J. N. Mohr, of Engine Co. No. 1, which occurred October 9th. Since his death Mr. T. B. Jackson, assistant foreman, has been acting foreman. The report of Chief Williams, of the Police Department, showed that during the month 109 arrests were made, 56 whites and 53 colored.

Commissioner French stated that the committee on rules and regulations was ready to make a report. It was decided to hold a special meeting within the next few days to pass upon the report.

A communication was read from the Board of Audit and Finance informing the Commission of the action of that body in refusing to concur in letting the contract for the Winter uniforms for the police. It will be recalled that the Board of Audit and Finance declined concurrence because the Board of Aldermen had not approved the bids. Since then the City Attorney has rendered a decision to the effect that concurrence by the Board of Aldermen is not necessary. The matter was re-referred to the Board of Audit and Finance and the attention of that body called to the opinion of the City Attorney. Chairman Springer stated that the measurements had been taken and the order for the uniforms had gone forward.

Commissioner French reported that the fire engine Cape Fear, which has been rebuilt, was shipped from the factory in Minneapolis, October 28th, and should arrive here some time this week. The engine will probably be used in the parade next Tuesday.

Chairman Springer appointed Commissioner French as a committee to see the decorating committee of the Taft Day celebration about decorating the Fourth street fire stations for the celebration. It was the opinion of the board that the committee should decorate the buildings, especially in view of the large appropriation made by the city. These two stations are on the route of the parade.

Upon motion of Commissioner French A. J. Burriss, first substitute fireman of Engine Co. No. 1, was elected a private in the department.

PREVIOUS TERM AUGMENTED.

Ed Williams Gets an Additional Sentence of Six Months.

Ed Williams, colored, who had previously been sentenced by the Recorder to 15 months on the county roads, was the principal defendant in yesterday's session of court. Williams was charged with selling whiskey to a negro woman, the case coming up from Justice Bornemann's court. "Guilty," was the verdict of the Recorder, who, turning to the clerk said, "enter a sentence of six months on the county roads." This makes a total of 21 months Williams will have to work for the county. He will begin doing time at once.

Ernest Faison, colored, was tried on the charge of disorderly conduct and resisting Officer George Stephens on the circus grounds Monday. The defendant, who was represented by Geo. L. Peschau, claimed that he didn't know Mr. Stephens was an officer as he had on citizens' clothes. As soon as he saw the club, the negro testified, he did not offer further resistance. The Recorder reserved his decision until today. Albert Lamb, colored, was found guilty of throwing glass in the streets and was let off upon the payment of the costs. Willie Williams, who was disorderly on the circus grounds late Monday afternon, was fined $5 and the costs. John Smith, a white man, charged with drunkenness, forfeited a $10 bond.

REMAINS TAKEN HOME.

Former Buffalo, N. Y., Man Died Here of Fever.

Mr. Henry Suthoff, who came here two years ago to take a position with the Wilmington Cooperage Company, died at the James Walker Memorial Hospital at 8:45 o'clock Monday night, after an illness of ten days of fever. Accompanied by a brother the remains were taken on the 7 o'clock train last night for Buffalo, N. Y., the former home of the deceased, where the funeral and interment will take place. Mr. Suthoff was 23 years old and a young man held in the highest esteem by all who knew him. He had made many warm friends since coming to Wilmington and they learned of his death with deep sorrow. Mr. Suthoff was a member of the Knights of Pythias, holding his membership in a Buffalo lodge, and a delegation of local Pythians escorted the body from Mr. W. E. Yopp's funeral parlors to the train last eevning.

DISCONTENT AND TROUBLE

Mill Operatives in Northeast Dissatisfied—Republican Campaign Pledges a Farce—Hillard Bruce Talks of Next Election.

Mr. Hillard Bruce, at one time managing editor of the Raleigh Times, was in Wilmington yesterday on his way from his home in Norwich, Conn., to Pensacola, Fla., where is to become associate editor of the Pensacola, Morning Journal. Mr. Bruce, who has been in the newspaper business since 1892, has worked in editorial capacities on papers in Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Ohio, New Jersey and North Carolina.

Speaking of business conditions in the Northeast, Mr. Bruce said to a Star representative yesterday before his departure on the 3:10 o'clock train:

"There is still a very strong feeling in New England that the pledges of the Republican party to give a bona fide revision of the tariff downward were a farce, and I know a great many substantial Republicans in the manufacturing States of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut who do not hesitate to predict disaster for the party if the Cannon-Aldrich clique is permitted to boss the revenues of the country throughout Mr. Taft's term of office. These men realize that free hides is not to mean cheaper shoes—and the northeast is a great shoe producing section. The big cotton mill towns, like Fall River, New Bedford and Manchester, see most of their industries on short time these days, and while the management has in some instances been forced to reduce wages, the cost of living to the operatives is increasing every day and in all the mill towns discontent and trouble are brewing.

"New England's Democrats felt their party's loss very keenly when Governor Johnson, the pride of the Minnesota Democracy and the hope of the party Nationwise in 1912, was called away. New England Democrats, you know—that is, what Democrats we still have up there in that Puritanical country—never are radical Democrats, and the best of them never had any real appetite for Bryan. They knew in 1900 that he was a dead cock in the pit; they didn't want him nominated in 1908. Quite a few of our most solid Democrats have already commenced to view favorably rather than otherwise the manifest willingness of Governor Judson Harmon, of Ohio, to oppose his fellow-statesman, Mr. Taft, at the polls in 1912. They will be harder yet for him if he carries the Buckeye State this Fall. I have been in Ohio since my newspaper connections in that State came to an end, and can tell you that the Harmon popularity in the middle West has the right ring and that Ohio and Indiana, with 38 electoral votes, will be a couple of close, debatable States if the Ohio Governor runs for President in 1912. He beat Governor Harriss, a fairly capable executive, in 1908, by 27,000, despite the fact that Taft got Ohio by 60,000 or more."

"How about Judge Gray, of Delaware," Mr. Bruce was asked.

"My home State of Connecticut," he said, "was Gray rather than Bryan or Johnson or Harmon up to the Denver convention of 1908, and former State Chairman Charles W. Comstock and former Senator O'Neill, of Bridgeport, the latter a vice presidential possibility last year, were out and out Gray men. I think, however, that Gray's strength is principally in Delaware, Maryland and New Jersey. New England would, if it came to a showdown, go for Harmon, the way things stand now, rather than for Gray, although the eminent presidential fitness of the distinguished Wilmington jurist is recognized in all the Northern States. We think, though, that Governor Harmon, a man whose personality has more color in it, would prove a stronger vote catcher than Judge Gray, who might, we fear, be taken for a second Judge Parker. The good Lord knows the party doesn't want any more Parkers."

Mr. Bruce left Wilmington yesterday afternoon on his journey to his new labors.

PEARY IN WASHINGTON.

Rival Explorer Seems to Attract Little Attention at Capital.

"Sentiment as to Cook and Peary is pretty much the same all over the country," said Mr. James Owen Reilly who returned yesterday from a two weeks' trip to Boston, New York and other points in the North.

"I was in Washington Monday and while at the hotel desk, I was surprised when the clerk called my attention to a solitary figure pacing up and down the corridor and was told that the "fellow" was Peary; he seemed to be attracting absolutely no attention," said Mr. Reilly. "The clerk informed me that when Dr. Cook was in Washington only a short time before that the crush was so great to see him that officers had to be stationed in the lobby." Mr. Reilly said that this was a great surprise to him, especially in the official circles in Washington, where Peary is supposed to be strongest in popular favor. Mr. Reilly went on to say that the Washington public so far as he could observe had formed an intense dislike for the Commander.

Inspecting Seaboard Improvements.

In the city yesterday were Messrs. Chas. R. Capps, freight traffic manager; R. I. Cheatham, assistant general freight agent, and V. C. Tompkins, commercial agent, of the Seaboard Air Line Railway. The purpose of the visit of these gentlemen was to inspect the work now in progress upon the extensive docks and terminal facilities of the railroad.

President Taft will be in Wilmington next Tuesday, 9th, and a great reception has been arranged for him. Of course, there will be an overwhelming crowd in the town, but the Chronicle is assured that accommodations will be provided for all the Charlotte people. It will be only necessary for them to send applications for rooms to No. 39 Garrell Building, Second and Princess streets, or report there on arrival Wilmington will take care of all comers.—Charlotte Chronicle.

AUDIT AND FINANCE BOARD

Salary of Assistant City Clerk and Treasurer Increased—Other Matters Before Body Mostly of Routine Nature.

The Board of Audit and Finance met in regular semi-monthly session last night with Chairman M. J. Heyer presiding and Messrs. McQueen, Cooper and Wilder in attendance. Captain Thos. D. Meares, the clerk, was out of the city, and Assistant City Clerk and Treasurer Charles H. White acted in his place.

The time of the meeting was devoted mostly to auditing accounts and approving bills. A bill of City Attorney Herbert McClammy for $100 for representing the city in the gambling cases last week was approved, but a bill for $25 for an opinion, written at the request of Chairman Springer of the Police and Fire Commission, relative to the powers of the several boards of the city was turned down, Mr. Cooper casting the only vote favoring payment of the amount.

The salary of Assistant City Clerk and Treasurer Charles H. White was raised from $100 to $120 a month. Messrs. McQueen and Cooper voted for the increase, and Mr. Wilder didn't vote. It will be recalled that when the board decreased salaries at the first of the fiscal year the salary of Col. White was reduced from $125 to $100 a month. At a subsequent meeting a motion was made to increase his salary to $120 a month, but the motion was lost.

A committee from the aldermanic body, consisting of Messrs. Hinton, Stone and Hall, appeared before the board and invited the body to meet with the Aldermen to discuss a proposition to sell street improvement bonds so the newly created Street Commission could get to work. The invitation was accepted. Mayor MacRae later addressed the board, explaining the urgent necessity of selling a portion of the bonds so that the work of improving the streets could be started. The bond of the Nott Fire Egine Company, which concern rebuilt the fire engine Cape Fear, was approved. It was turned down at the last meeting on account of some irregularity. Shortly after 9 o'clock the meeting adjourned and the members went to the aldermanic chambers for a joint session, a report of which is found elsewhere.

A WORD OF COMMENDATION.

Rev. W. E. Hocutt Writes of Fourth Street Station.

Editor Morning Star:—I wish to offer a word of commendation of "Hose Co. No. 3." How much gratitude we owe these six noble, alert men who keep vigil over the safety of life and property of this great city. The promptness with which they respond to the alarm of the bell should kindle the admiration of every citizen who realizes the danger of fire in a great city, composed of wooden buildings. How many lives might be lost, and how much property roll away in smoke and flames by a few moments' delay. I have watched this company several times when the alarm rang out. In less than a moment's time the horses are to the wagon and hurrying to the place of danger. I sent in a call one day last week, when I left the 'phone, picked up my hat, and reached the front door, the wagon was on Fifth street bridge, a distance of two blocks. One day I saw them driving out of the fire house on the third stroke of the bell. That is what I call hustling.

This company is composed of the following gentlemen: L. Freimuth, foreman; W. H. Merritt, assistant foreman and driver; A. C. Peterson, W. J. Eagles, W. D. Murray and J. W. Smith. Wilmington people should feel proud of their fire department.

Sincerely,

W. E. HOCUTT.

TO ENTERTAIN THE PRESS.

Complimentary Smoker to be Given Night of President's Visit.

The City of Wilmington has in store a most cordial welcome for her visitors on Taft Day next Tuesday, but a special cordiality awaits those newspaper men who have so generously and unselfishly aided the Taft Publicity Committee in giving effect to the purposes for which it was appointed.

In order to manifest in some measure its high appreciation of the interest and kindness which the editors of the State have shown in this matter, the Publicity Committee has sent out engraved cards and invitations to "a smoker to be given complimentary to the Tar Heel Press" at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce.

The committee will spend a thousand dollars in the entertainment of its newspaper friends and it is hoped that all to whom invitations have been sent will send in their acceptances at once. This entertainment will take place after President Taft takes his departure from the city, so that it will not in the least interfere with their opportunity of seeing the President and taking in all the attractive features of Wilmington's Taft Day celebration.

The coming of the circus at Charlotte turned out as predicted by this paper when the authorities permitted it to come in on the first day of the fair. The people all came in to see the big show, then sewed up their pocketbooks and remained at home. The Observer says that only about 15,000 paid admissions were received for the four days, practically all of it being due to the circus. The directors of the fair are disgusted and according to the Observer's account, others must come in and bear the burden if another fair is to be held. It has been playing in bad luck all the time, except in 1907, when some money was made; rain interfered every year except this, while this time the circus about finished it. Probably Charlotte is ready to join in and ask the Legislature to bar circusses during fair week at all places in the State. Keep them out all the time is the best policy.—Greensboro Record.

Great Autumn Sale still on at Rehder's. Bargains in every department. **

THE SEABOARD TAX MUDDLE

Chairman McNeill, Here Yesterday, Holds New Hanover Entitled to Full Taxes From Wharf Property.

As the result of confusion in the meaning of the law concerning the listing of railroad property, as a result of which the Seaboard Air Line listed with the corporation commission, instead of the county and city, its property located between Brunswick and Harnett streets, and between Nutt street and the river, Chairman Franklin McNeill, of the Corporation Commission, was here yesterday to have a conference concerning the matter with the representatives of the railroad and the county.

After viewing the property, Captain McNeill met with Capt. L. S. Belden, of the Board of Assessors, County Chairman McEachern, and Mr. F. A. Fetter, Jr., local representative of the Seaboard, and as a result reached the conclusion that the property in question ought properly to be listed in New Hanover county, instead of with the Corporation Commission, as had been done.

The reason for the confusion was a change in the laws, whereby all railroad property devoted to transportation purposes of the lines is listed with the Corporation Commission and the taxes accruing therefrom distributed among all the counties through which the lines run, according to their respective mileage. As it clearly appeared that the property in question consisted of warehouses being used for other than transportation purposes, it followed that the county was entitled to have it assessed here and to receive the entire, instead of the proportional, tax. The railroad is not resisting this determination, but, on account of having listed the property with the commission, naturally desires protection against what would otherwise be double taxation.

Chairman McNeill left at 7 o'clock for Raleigh, and will take the matter up with the Corporation Commission, although he would not state in just what way it was proposed to straighten out the tangle.

The property in question is listed for taxation at $55,000, in taxes from which the State and county are entitled to receive $434.50, and the city of Wilmington $770.

As New Hanover county has a Seaboard mileage of only nine miles, the county of Brunswick, for instance, would, if the property were permitted to remain listed with the Commission, receive more than twice the amount in taxes that this county would get, although the property is located here.

"THE GLOBE."

"Old Firm in New Place" on Princess Street Just Opened.

Decidedly one of the most attractive and up-to-date establishments of its kind ever opened in Wilmington is "The Globe" lunch room and restaurant, which threw open its door to the public at 113 Princess street on November 1st. It is an "old firm in a new place" and the proprietors are Messrs. Caase & Schuler, than whom there are no more proficient caterers in the State. The place has been handsomely fitted up, the floors being of concrete with inlaid cork, which gives a decidedly pleasant impression as one first enters the door. The counters and show cases are as handsome as were ever seen in Wilmington and it is a high compliment to Wilmington enterprise that these were made by the Chadbourn Sash Door & Lumber Co., of this city, while the mural decoration and the finishing of the woodwork in the entire establishment was done by Mr. J. E. Hatch. The fixtures are of oak with dull finish and a system of beautiful chandeliers, studded in the walls, gives a beautiful illumination.

In the culinary department the firm has been satisfied with nothing but the best. Ranges, broilers, steam tables, and every other convenience known to the art has been installed. A system of steam tables, makes quick lunches a specialty and the restaurant will use warm plates exclusively in serving its patrons. "Everything the market affords" sums up the menu at this pretty establishment and Messrs. Caase and Schuler, both of whom are well known to the Wilmington and traveling public merely invite a call and what they have to offer will "do the rest." The place is, indeed, a credit to Wilmington.

THE HARBOR AND CRAFT.

The Decorations to Beautifuy Water Front for Taft Celebration.

Capt. Edgar D. Williams, harbor master and chairman of the harbor and craft decorating committee for the Taft celebration, has received the signal flags, bunting and other decorations which will be used in beautifying the water front for the President's visit.

The Brunswick side of the Cape Fear, which shows up so plainly from the city, will present an elaborate scene if the decorations are carried out as has been proposed. The work of placing the decorations will begin next Monday and it is believed they will be in readiness when the President and his party go down the river on the Seminole. The decorations have been designed very elaborately.

TO SELL PORTION OF BONDS

Two Boards Decide to Place on Market $100,000 Worth of Street Improvement Bonds—Matters Before Aldermen.

With the concurrence of members of the Board of Audit and Finance, who were present, the Board of Aldermen in regular monthly session last night passed a resolution authorizing the sale of $100,000 of the street improvement bonds which were voted some time ago. This was really the feature of a two-hour session of the board.

The Aldermen met at 7:30 o'clock with Mayor MacRae presiding and all members present except Alderman Hinton and Rehder, who came in later. The minutes of October meetings were read by City Clerk and Treasurer Fowler. Alderman Stone observed that the resignation of Alderman Ellis as chairman of the sanitary committee appeared in the minutes and stated that it did not properly belong there, as Mr. Ellis was an appointee of the Mayor and his resignation should have been made to the Mayor and not to the board. Mayor MacRae stated that as the board had acted upon the resignation, declining to accept it, it was properly incorporated in the minutes. This point settled one or two minor corrections were made and the board proceeded to business.

Sell the Bonds.

Mayor MacRae called attention to the urgent necessity of improving the streets, especially in establishing grades before the water and sewerage pipes are laid, and suggested that a portion of the street improvement bonds be sold so the Street Commission could organize and take charge of the work. Capt. L. S. Belden, chairman of the Commission, was present and supplemented the remarks of the Mayor. Captain Belden was of the opinion that the Board of Audit and Finance, which he termed the "dictatorial board," would not concur in the sale of street bonds until the water and sewerage pipes were down. He had been before that body several times without result. "Had the board listened to me Mr. Taft would be greeted by good streets," said Capt. Belden. On motion of Alderman Willard the Mayor appointed Aldermen Hinton, Hall and Stone to invite the Board of Audit and Finance, in session across the hall, to come over for a joint session to consider the matter. The committee returned and reported that the members of the board would be over later in the evening. City Attorney McClammy added a few words to what had already been said of the necessity of the Street Commission getting down to work. He said that now was the opportune time for establishing the grades and not after the water and sewerage pipes were laid.

A bill of City Engineer Humphreys for establishing street grades in front of property owned by Postmaster T. E. Wallace was ordered paid and Alderman Bonitz instructed to appear before the Board of Audit and Finance and explain why the city should pay for this work.

The young men who entered submissions to the charge of gambling in the Recorders' court a few days ago had to pay the fee of the city attorney as well as other costs incurred in ferreting out the cases. City Attorney McClammy had paid into the city treasury $250. Mayor MacRae suggested that the board appropriate $100 for Mr. McClammy's services, explaining that that amount had already been collected for him but turned over to the city treasurer. A motion to this effect was made and carried. It was stated that the average costs of the cases was $43, although some of the alleged gamblers paid more than $100.

A. B. King was granted to conduct a private meat market at southwest corner of Seventh and Castle streets and permission was granted to Calvin D. Gore to open a market at corner of Ninth and Orange streets. The board approved the appointment of Mr. W. H. Northrop as tax collector by the City Clerk and Treasurer.

The report of Dr. Joseph Akerman, superintendent of health, was read. He said that the work of fumigation warranted the continuance of the fourth health officer, who was added six months ago. Chairman Ellis of the Sanitary committee, explained that the fourth health officer was only employed for six months and that his time expired the first of the month. He moved that he be employed for another six months at a salary of $50 a month. The motion prevailed.

Mr. John D. Bellamy, Jr., 2nd, and Mr. Robt. Cowan appeared before the board and asked permission to erect a grandstand on Market, between Third and Fourth streets, to be used on Taft day. The request was granted, provided, however, the gentlemen secure the consent of the central committee of the Taft celebration.

"Building streets all over the city for Taft," stated Alderman Bonitz when the report of the Streets and Wharves committee was called for. He reported the purchase of two horses for $500. At this juncture Mayor MacRae retired from the chamber and Mayor Pro Tem. Ellis was called to the chair and presided during the remainder of the session.

Alderman Stone, of the Light Committee, reported that he had installed a light under the ferry shed at the foot of Market street. Alderman Bonitz called attention to the reckless speed at which coal carts are driven in the down-town district, and upon motion the clerk was instructed to notify the chief of police to interest his men to arrest the driver of a coal cart when observed going at an unreasonable rate of speed. Alderman Hinton reported that he had written Chairman Worth of the Water and Sewerage Commission relative to complaints of excessive water rents, and that Mr. Worth had promised to meet his committee and make an investigation. Alderman Yopp reported the purchase of two flags and a staff for the City Hall building.

The report of City Clerk and Treasurer Fowler showed the finances of the city as follows: October 1st, balance on hand, $17,515.89; receipts during the month, $23,328.42; grand total of $40,844.31; disbursements, $12,360.27, leaving a balance November 1st of $28,484.04.

Before the reading of the reports were finished the lights suddenly went out. By the aid of matches the reading was continued, however. Later lanterns were secured and the remainder of the session held by lantern light. All the lights on that circuit went out and it was stated would not be put in condition for use until today.

In the darkness came the members of the Board of Audit and Finance to take up the consideration of the matter of selling a portion of the bonds for street improvement. Mayor Pro Tem. Ellis stated the reason the members of the board had been invited to attend a joint meeting and then there was a general discussion of the advisability of selling the bonds at this time. A motion of Alderman Willard to sell $100,000 worth of the bonds carried with the concurrence of of the members of the Board of Audit and Finance.

Water and Sewerage.

It was raining outside and the members of the two boards were in no hurry to "brave the elements" so lingered awhile and discussed the work of the Water and Sewerage Commission. Chairman Heyer, of the Board of Audit and Finance, broke the ice, so to speak, and, in substance, said:

"I wish to make a suggestion to the Board of Aldermen relative to the sewerage system of this city. If the city intends to own and operate the sewerage of this city it should take such steps to promptly secure it, as I feel there is something in the air that tells me that the matter will be manipulated in such a way that the present system of sewerage will be continued in use in the city for many years. I also feel personally that the sewerage system should be put down or follow the water pipes so as to go along together. Then it would be well for the paving of the streets to follow the water and sewerage. Otherwise the streets would be torn up from time to time and we will not get as good service and it will be years before they are completed. I feel that there is a movement to continue the present sewerage system and the present Water and Sewerage Commission will perhaps about use all the funds in hand to put in a new water system. After that is completed there will be very little funds in hand to buy or equip a sewerage system. I have been informed by the sanitary committee of the Board of Aldermen that there are at present about 4,000 dumps in the city that costs per month $1,400 to have them properly looked after. This amount alone would more than pay the interest on new sewerage system.

"It is my opinion that the city should own an adequate sewerage system and that the same should be given the citizens free, and the city should charge for the water enough to compensate them for operating both plants, and compel every citizen to take sewerage, which will improve the health of the city at least 25 per cent."

Some of the members of the two boards concurred with him in his views. They were just as outspoken relative to the belief that it would be many years before the city would have an improved sewerage system. Several members spoke of the amount it is contemplated to spend on the waterworks and they could not see that there would be much left for the sewerage system. The suggestion of Mr. Heyer that the sewerage be free struck a responsive chord.

Shortly before 10 o'clock the meeting adjourned.

One of the arches of the "Great White Way" has been installed and was put in service last night. It is directly in front of the office of the Tidewater Power Company. The arch has 11 Tuhgston lights and was sufficient to illuminate the street for some distance. The illumination from the one arch gave one an idea of what the street will look like when all the arches are installed and the current turned on. The work of decorating the streets is also progressing very rapidly and yesterday pine trees were put in place along Front street.

CAPE FEAR GOLF CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Cape Fear Golf Club was held last night at the club house at the links. There was an unusually large attendance of members, including many ladies. This was the first meeting held at the new club house. There is increased interest here in golf and the members look for a most successful season.

Several matters of interest to the members were considered at the meeting. The report of President W. D. MacMillan, Jr., and the other officers were of an encouraging nature and showed that during the year a number of new members had been enrolled. The club now has as members 90 men and 81 ladies and seven non-resident members. An interesting report of the Invitation Golf Tournament held in Charleston last week was made by the club's representative, Mr. A. B. Mills, who came away with one of the trophies. He reported that at the business session, held on the last evening of the tournament, the Carolina Golf Association was organized. The association will be composed of clubs in North and South Carolina, including the Cape Fear Club. Mr. J. J. Blair, of this city, was elected one of the vice presidents. The association will hold annual tournaments, the first of which will be in Greenville, S. C., next Spring.

A handsome loving cup was presented to the club by Messrs. A. B. and B. S. Mills to be played for in the Thanksgiving Day Tournament. The links are being used daily now by the members of the club, but the first tournament of the season will be the one on Thanksgiving. The election of officers resulted as follows:

Jresident—W. D. McMillan, Jr.

Vice President—J. J. Blair.

Secretary and Treasurer—H. deW. Rapalje.

Captain of the Green—Donald Mac Rae.

Besides the officers the following were elected as members of the governing board: Messrs. George Rountree and A. S. Williams, and Major E. W. VanC. Lucas.

—At the suggestion of Mayor Walter G. MacRae the visiting police officers who will be here to do patrol duty on the day of President Taft's visit will be given an oyster roast at Lumina after the work of the day has been finished. Chief of Police N. J. Williams will act in the capacity of host.

The Theatre

The Manhattan Opera Company again delighted last night at the Acanemy o Music, presenting the old, but ever-popular "Bohemian Girl." The company sang the stirring, jolly opera well and the production was well made. The singing of the well known favorites, such as "I Dreamt I Slept in Marble Halls," was well executed and found warm response in the hearts of those who made up the audience.

The company will bring its engagement to a close with two performances today and the Manhattans should be greeted by large audiences at these performances, because they deserve it. At special matinee this afternoon the company will be seen in a fine presentation of merry "Pinafore," which should appeal strongly to the ladies and children, and tonight the company will appear in the fascinating "Maratana." Prices for tonight run only to $1 and seats are on sale at the Crystal Palace, while the matinee prices have been reduced to 25 and 50 cents.

Present Bill a Big Winner.

The second day of the new bill at the Crystal Palace but exemplified that the present offering is one of the best and most novel of all. Its drawing power is proving such beyond dispute. "The White Yogi" is creating quite a stir and his concluding feature when he lays a robe on the floor and produced from beneath it a large basin filled with water, is to say the least startling. The crayon drawing of J. O. Wise is also proving a big feature. With both hands, at the same time, he draws handsome pictures and then presents them to people in the audience. These pictures are suitable for framing and will be given away at each performance. Saturday night two exceptionally handsome pictures, drawn especially by Artist Wise, will be given away to two lucky folks in the audience.

The special compliment the Palace management is paying the ladies this week is also being greatly appreciated in the way of increased attendance. At each night performance a box of the toothsome Red Band brand of candy is given away and Friday night an extra 5-pound box will be presented to some lady. Any lady who attends a performance this week will stand a chance of becoming the owner of the five-pound box.

As an extra attraction for this week the Palace yesterday added the Lesser Children, Kathryn, aged 3 1-2 years, and Bertrand, aged 7 years. The "kids" are decidedly clever.

At the Bijou Today.

At the Bijou today will be told the story of "Two Brothers," Ralph and Frank Davis, who fell in love with Ethel Daily, a winsome, lovable little woman and a long time friend of the Davis family. Both propose to her and she accepts Ralph, but Frank gets hold of the notes and changes the initials. Frank then robs the safe where both were employed and the crime is laid on Ralph, who serves five years in prison. In the meantime Frank gains the consent of Ethel to marry him. At the expiration of his term Ralph returns home and the true criminal is made known. Ralph and Ethel marry and Frank kills himself with a revolver.

FOR DEEP WATERWAYS

North Carolinians Will Take Prominent Part in Norfolk Convention

Norfolk, Va., Nov 2.—North Carolinians will play an important part in the proceedings of the second annual convention of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association, to be held in Norfolk, November 17th to 20th. Some of the most important addresses to be delivered before the body, which will be visited by President Taft and other distinguished men, will be by sons of the Old North State. "Inland Waterways South of Norfolk" is the topic that has been assigned the Hon. Josephus Daniels, editor of the Raleigh News and Observer; Congressman John H. Small, of Washington, N. C., will describe "The Cut at Beaufort," which is now being made by the government to enable a safe passage from Albemarle and Pamlico sounds to the Atlantic ocean. Senator Simmons, who has just returned from a trip abroad where he studied waterways, and Hon. Charles R. Thomas, of North Carolina, are also scheduled for speeches.

Many other prominent men are to take part in the convention. These include Hon. Gifford Pinchot, U. S. Forester; Willis L. Moore, chief of the Weather Bureau; Congressman Ransdell, of Louisiana; Rear Admiral C. S. Sperry and E. D. Taussig, U. S. N.; Hon. John M. Barrett, director of the Bureau of American Republics; Lewis Nixon, the famous shipbuilder; Chas. M Schwab, steel manufacturer; Hon. August Belmont, of New York, and Secretary Nagel, of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

Norfolk will be more elaborately decorated than on any occasion during her history for the visit of the President on November 19th. The famous Marine Band of Washington, will head a procession of U. S. sailors and soldiers, the Virginia militia, and children of the public schools, which will be reviewed by the President. A place in the parade has been assigned the North Carolina military company. After reviewing the parade, President Taft will be introduced by Governor Claude A. Swanson, and will deliver an address on waterways. In the afternoon the President and guests will be entertained at an oyster roast at Cape Henry, and in the evening a smoker will be given to the visiting newspaper men, at which the President will be the guest of honor.

Congressman J. Hampton Moore, president of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association, has just announced that it will be impossible to bring the Clermont, the replica of Robert Fulton's first steamboat through the canals from New York to Norfolk, as was intended. It was ascertained that the Clermont is too wide to pass through the locks of the canals. Commenting upon this, President Moore says: "What a sad commentary upon the inadequacy of modern inland waterways, when we find that a steamboat constructed over one hundred years ago cannot pass through the canals. It simply shows how antique the inland system is, and how utterly neglectful the business community has been of its own interests."

Up to close of October last year 27.14 per cent. of the cotton crop had been marketed and for the same two months in 1907 the percentage of the crop brought into sight was 23.24 and for the same time in 1906 the percentage marketed was 24.69.

STILLS IN ROBESON

Two Captured in Raft Swamp Yesterday—Carried to Lumberton.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Lumberton, N. C., Nov. 2.—Sheriff McNeill and Deputy Barnes in company with two or taree Croatans made a raid in Raft Swamp today and as a result two whiskey stills are now in jail. The stills were located where Raft Swamp and Burnt Swamp come together. One was of 30 gallons capacity and the other 20 gallons. Owing to the density of the woods and location they were unable to identify any of the crowd. The stills were in operation when captured

Stops Lameness

Much of the chronic lameness in horses is due to neglect.

See that your horse is not allowed to go lame. Keep Sloan's Liniment on hand and apply at the first sign of stiffness. It's wonderfully penetrating — goes right to the spot — relieves the soreness — limbers up the joints and makes the muscles elastic and pliant.

Here's the Proof.

Mr. G. T. Roberts of Resaca, Ga., R.F.D. No. 1, Box 43, writes: — "I have used your Liniment on a horse for sweeney and effected a therough cure. I also removed a spavin on a mule. This spavin was as large as a guinea egg. In my estimation the best remedy for lameness and soreness is

Sloan's Liniment

Mr. H. M. Gibbs, of Lawrence, Kans., R.F.D. No. 3, writes: — "Your Liniment is the best that I have ever used. I had a mare with an abscess on her neck and one 50c. bottle of Sloan's Liniment entirely cured her. I keep it around all the time for galls and small swellings and for everything about the stock."

Sloan's Liniment will kill a spavin, curb or splint, reduce wind puffs and swollen joints, and is a sure and speedy remedy for fistula, sweeney, founder and thrush.

Facts For Sick Women

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or secured so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every woman you meet has either been benefited by it, or knows some one who has.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made exclusively from roots and herbs, and is perfectly harmless.

The reason why it is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the female organism, restoring it to healthy and normal activity.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials such as the following prove the efficiency of this simple remedy.

Minneapolis, Minn.:—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women, I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. Within three months I was a perfectly well woman.

"I want this letter made public to show the benefits to be derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. John G. Moldan, 2115 Second St. North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If Mr. Rockefeller desires to spend a million dollars in an effort to trace the hookworm to its lair no one need object, but it is scarcely just to the South to assume that the parasite is confined to this section of the country. It is asserted that 2,000,000 persons in the South, mostly poor whites, are afflicted with the hair-like germ. The Rockefeller gift is to be expended in the South. No one will object to this, but the impression sought to be conveyed that the parasite does not exist north of the Potomac and Ohio rivers should be combatted. The hookworm can be found in all countries and all sections. But the minute worm is distressingly prevalent in the South, especially on the farms and in the cotton mills that harbor insanitary conditions, and the fact that the Rockefeller gift is to be expended in fighting the worm in the South need not distress us. All scientists agree that the disease is easily recognized and can be effectively treated. About all that is needed to secure its eradication is better sanitation and better living. The hookworm retards physical and mental development, extending to extreme anemia, ulcers on the skin and a weakness generally described as laziness. It leads to other diseases, including tuberculosis. It is curable and a million dollars wisely extended should go far in making all features of the disease known to all Southern physicians, together with the best manner of its treatment and cure. Unlike pellagra, it is not deadly, but it is injurious to the South, economically speaking, and Mr. Rockefeller's gift should be welcomed. We need not however, admit that the habitat of the hookworm is the South. Its habitat is in fact, the wide, wide world.—Goldsboro Argus.

LATE JUDGE JAMES C. M'RAE

Tribute to His Memory as Soldier, Jurist, Teacher—Kindred Spirit With Faculty and Inspiration to the Student Body

(By Frank P Graham)

Sunday night, Oct 17th at 11:10, in the quiet of his room, without struggle and almost without warning died James Cameron MacRae, soldier, jurist, teacher. A soldier of signal bravery in his youth, a jurist of great eminence in the prime of his life, a teacher of inspirational power in his declining years, he was a highminded citizen and a warm friend always. Today the world in which he moved is less cheerful for his absence the State to which he dedicated himself with such singleness of purpose is greater that he lived, is the loser that he died. The University in which he taught feels the loss of his devotion; and his students everywhere have felt to pass out of their lives a strengthening part, the rare warm friendship of this teacher and companion.

In the University community in which he lived for the last ten years he was universally known and universally loved Not only did the professor find in him a kindred spirit and the student an inspiring force, but the towns-people also a real friend. The barber that snaved him felt his comradeship, and the bootblack at his feet his kinship. Aristocratic, as the term goes, by birth he was democratic by nature and choice. He believed in blood, but he believed that all blood is blue. He believed in the universal brotherhood of man, not as an abstraction for word play, but as a reality for everyday experience in his personal relationships with men. With all of his personal relationships he was yet one of those gentle, large-sympathied beings that elicited scarcely a harsh word from a single soul. Nor was he lacking in the sterner stuff that men are made of. If you were to suggest his character in a word you would be in doubt whether to say kindheartedness or fearlessness. Many men, who are big hearted and gentle, bend under pressure; others, fearless and true, are yet without "the milk of human kindness." Judge MacRae blended in admirable strength and harmony, a gentle kindness toward all men, with a Scotsman's courageous devotion to duty.

Of Scotch descent, he was born in Fayetteville October 6, 1838, of John and Mary (Shackleford) MacRae He graduated from the Donaldson Academy at Fayetteville and intended entering the University of North Carolina On account of unexpected financial stress, however, he taught school; clerked in a store a while; and turned to teaching again. Out of school hours he diligently read law Often he would get up before day to read Blackstone by a pine knot fire. By 1859 he had read enough law to be admitted to the bar. He immediately went into the law office of his brother, the brilliant Duncan K. Mackae, defeated candidate for governor, and later agent of the Confederacy to England.

With the beginning of the war he enlisted in the first North Carolina regiment. He was a private at Big Bethel and was later a major of a battalion in the Western North Carolina State troops. The youthful major several times distinguished himself for conspicuous gallantry, and before the end of the war was promoted to be assistant adjutant general to General Baker in Eastern North Caro..na.

At ...e close of the war he resumed the practice of law in Fayetteville in partnership with Colonel Charles W. Broadfoot. Soon afterward he was married to Miss Fanny Hinsdale of Fayetteville, an accomplished daughter of the old South In a few years he became a leading lawyer of his section and was elected in 1874 to represent Cumberland in the Legislature. It was during the session of 1874-5 that a move was made to reopen the University. The fight was close and bitter. Representative MacRae came from a constituency at that time opposed to the reopening of the University, but he saw his duty clearly. At the risk of his political fortunes, and against the solicitation of friends he came out boldly, and by his influence and speeches carried the measure for the reorganization of the University. This was to the end of his days, and in the opinion of the same constituency, the proudest achievement of his life.

In the early eighties a movement was inaugurated to establish state wide prohibition. This movement was at that time in much disfavor in North Carolina, but MacRae, true to his conviction, took the stump for the cause; was president of the state convention which met in Raleigh in 1881; and was the central figure in the fight, the failure of which was said at the time, would bury him forever. In his study, now, is a beautiful oak and silver loving cup presented by the ladies of Fayetteville for his services as a pioneer in the great prohibition movement in North Carolina

MacRae did not stay buried long. The need of strong, clear-sighted jurists soon brought him to the front. In 1882 he was appointed Judge of the Superior Court to fill Judge Bennett's unexpired term, and in the same year was elected by the people Judge of the Fourth (now Seventh) Judicial District. In 1883 the degree of L.L. D. was conferred upon him by the University. He was appointed by Governor Holt Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, and was later elected by the people. With the defeat of the Democratic party in 1894 Associate Justice MacRae again took up the practice of law. He was associated with W. H. Day, in the firm of MacRae and Day at Raleigh, and was attorney for the Seaboard Air Line Railway.

In 1899 he was chosen to succeed Dr. John S. Manning as dean of the University Law School. His career here is a part of the history of the University, and his life is inwrought into the lives of hundreds of lawyers all over the State today. He was a worthy worker in a law school builded by the two Battles and firmly established by Manning Attentive to the duties of his deanship, he was yet not an executive of unusual business ability, or of superior organizing and administrative power; but for getting hold of the heartstrings of his students and inspiring them with a love for himself and the ideals which he exemplified, he had but few peers in the teaching profession By the sheer force of his lovable personality he built up the largest and strongest law school in the history of the University.

Pressed as he was with the work of professor and dean, he found time to devote to other duties He was Editor in Chief of "The North Carolina Journal of Law" and contributed to "The North Carolina Booklet" He was a member of the Masonic Order, and was Senior Warden, and an active worker in the Episcopal Church. Every Sunday morning, even to the end of his life, he taught a Bible class of young men in the Sunday School.

The Sunday on which he died, he attended the early communion service at 7:30 A. M., and met his Bible class before church service. After supper that night, with characteristic constancy, he preppared his lesson for the next Sunday. He then spent a most pleasant hour about the fireplace with his family and retired to bed, calm and contented. At eleven o'clock Dr. Charles S. Mangum was called to his bedside, and tried by heroic efforts to revive his failing heart, but in ten minutes he quietly passed away

The funeral exercises, conducted by his rector, Rev. R. W. Hogue, and the Rev. F. M. Osborne of Charlotte, were held Tuesday morning in the village church, the Chapel of the Cross. He was buried in the afternoon at Fayetteville, his native town, and the home of the Scotch people who loved him as their own to the end. That day his chair in the North Carolina Supreme Court was draped as a tribute from the profession he adorned, in the name of the State he served; the college bell tolled slowly the University's sad testimonial; and the man on the street suppressed a tear for the friend that was gone.

... think I can see him now, as he stands before the boys he loved, instilling into their minds out of a long experience at the bar and on the bench the deepest principles and the highest ideals of the law, and out of a larger life experience illustrating and enforcing these principles and ideals with incidents of human interest and bits of purest sentiment. He passes now from my mind's eye, and his venerable form and kindly face are lost in the light of another world, unafraid of the justice and worthy of the mercy of the higher court.

STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Notable Address by Hon. Jas. Bryce. Tentative Programme.

To the Editor:—A meeting in which all North Carolinians will be interested is the tenth annual session of the Literary and Historical Association to be held in Raleigh Thursday, November 4th. The Association is composed of nearly five hundred patriotic North Carolina men and women interested in the development of North Carolina literature and the preservation of North Carolina history. And this promises to be one of the most notable meetings in the ten years of the Association's existence.

The chief feature, of course, will be the address at the evening session by Hon. James Bryce, famous alike as author, publicist and diplomat. As the author of "The American Commonwealth," he will be welcomed with even more enthusiasm than as the Ambassador from the Court of St. James to our government. While the subject of Mr. Bryce's address has not been announced, it is very probable that he will bring a notable message to the Southern people upon our educational, industrial and political needs and opportunities. Impressed alike by the fact that the first English settlement in America was made in the borders of North Carolina, and that we have in the South, the purest Anglo-Saxon stock to be found outside of England, Mr. Bryce as a philosophical student of history will not unlikely bring a message on how the South may best play its part in our twentieth century tasks as befits a leading branch of the English speaking races.

The announcement of Mr. Bryce's coming has excited more enthusiasm than the coming of any other speaker we have ever had. "I should rather hear him than any other man living," says a well known North Carolina woman in a letter now before me; and such enthusiasm is general.

For this meeting of the Association, however, a programme has been prepared which would be thoroughly creditable even without Mr. Bryce's address. The annual address of President Junius Davis will deal with the life and times of Major John Walker, a noted Revolutionary patriot of the Cape Fear section.

Mr. R. D. W. Connor, Secretary of the State Historical Commission, will present an illuminating review of the State's historical activities.

Dr. D. H. Hill will briefly review the North Carolina books of the year.

Hon. A. M. Scales, of Greensboro, has been asked to report for the committee for promotion a fire proof State Library and Hall of Records, of which he is a member.

Mrs. John VanLandingham, of Charlotte, is expected to present a paper on the encouragement of art as an aid to North Carolina history and literature.

Second to nothing else in importance at the afternoon session will be the address of Col. J. Bryan Grimes, a member of the Association's Executive Committee, and also a member of the State Historical Commission, presenting plans for an active campaign over the State for marking the historic sites, dwellings, roads, etc., the next great work ahead of the Literary and Historical Association.

Dr. Edwin A. Alderman is expected to bring a message to the Association and the presentation of the Patterson Memorial Cup for the most notable literary production of the year by a resident of North Carolina will conclude the evening session.

Afterward the Capital Club will give a reception to Ambassador Bryce and the officers and out-of-town members of the Association.

There is general regret that the bust of Wm. A. Graham ordered by the Historical Commission, and which was expected to be presented to the State on this occasion, has not arrived, and the ceremony of presentation must therefore be postponed to a later date.

WILL BE RE-ORGANIZED.

The Esson Companies Too Big to Go by Default.

(Salisbury Post.)

Receiver Geo. R. Collins, of the Esson quarries, was asked today if the company would be re-organized soon. He replied, certainly, the company is too big a concern to go by default. It may be several months, he continued, before the re-organization is effected, but there is no doubt about the matter. Mr. Esson, however, will not likely return to Salisbury. Mr. A. H. Price was in Chicago last week arranging to place the company on its feet again. This is good news for both Salisbury and Granite Quarry, as the active operation of these quarries means much for this section. Mr. Collins, however, is going on with the work as usual, but necessarily with a decreased force.

MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING.

Prominent Beaufort County Men Engaged Without Known Cause.

(Washington News.)

There came near being a serious shooting affair at South Creek last Thursday, Mr. J. B. Whitehurst and Mr. K. A. Aldridge being the participants. The shooting took place near the store of Messrs. H. C. Mayo & Co. Mr. Whitehurst used his gun several times, but each time his aim failed to reach his intended victim, Mr. Aldridge. There has been no reason advanced for the misunderstanding between them. The trial of the cause is set for Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The affair has caused considerable talk in that neighborhood.

TAFT AND THE CIRCUS.

Repartee While Train Pulled Along Side Show Cars.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 2.—For an hour or more before leaving Jackson, Miss., early this morning President Taft's special train was parked in the railroad yards immediately alongside one of the sleeping car trains of the three-ring circus which played in Jackson as an opposition attraction to the President yesterday.

It was not long before an acquaintance had been formed aboard the two trains and for a time the conversation ran from window to window like this: "We play in Yazoo tomorrow; where do you play?" asked a representative of the circus addressing one of the Presidential party.

"We play Columbus in the afternoon and Birmingham at night, with a street parade in both places," came the response.

"We played in Columbus yesterday."

"How was business?"

"Bully."

"We get the crowds wherever we go," boasted a Presidential one-night-stander.

"But we get the money," came back the circus man, amid the applause of his associates.

"Yes," put in a lady bare-back rider, "and you only have a one-platform show and a band in the parade. We have a band all the time."

"If it was not for the one 'main guy' you would not have a show at all," chimed in a sad and serious visaged individual through one of the windows of the yellow circus train. He was the leading clown.

DISPENSARY CASES.

True Bills Against Officials at Chester, S. C.

Chester, S. C., Nov. 2.—The grand jury for Chester county today returned true bills against Jodie M. Rawlinson, Joseph B. Wylie, John Black, James S. Farnum, John T. Early, Morton A. Goodman and H. Lee Solomons, charging conspiracy to defraud the State in the purchase of liquors for the old State dispensary. Farnum is indicted for bribery also. Bench warrants were issued for the arrest of Rawlinson, Black, Farnum and Solomons. The indictments were handed to the grand jury by Solicitor Henry at the request of Attorney General Lyon.

The offenses named were alleged to have been committed in Chester in 1906. Farnum was tried recently at Columbia on the charge of bribery in connection with liquor purchases and was acquitted.

The trial of John Black at Columbia, on a charge of conspiracy to defraud, was stopped by the judge, who discharged the jury when it was found that the jurors had seen a newspaper after the trial started.

McLENSON URGES FIGHT

Quo Warranto Proceedings Decided in Favor of Ousted Commissioner.

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 2.—Quo Warranto proceedings in the fight between S. G. McLenson, of Atlanta, and Jos. F. Gray, of Savannah, for the position of railroad commissioner were decided today in favor of McLendon by Judge W. S. Charlton. Gray was appointed railroad commissioner by the Governor after the Legislature had ousted McLendon. The latter claimed his dismissal was illegal and began proceedings to oust Gray. The case will be fought through the higher courts.

PLUMP FOLKS AND THING FOLKS

Samose Will Make People Fat—"Money Back if it Fails" Says J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co

The line of beauty is a curve. Women may be thin and graceful, but not thin and beautiful. There is a vast number of pale, thin, scrawny people who are all brains and nerves, but without the strength and health that accompanies the standard weight. Good flesh and perfect health go together. A true flesh-forming food like Samose is absolutely necessary to many people.

No one can use this wonderful flesh-forming food for 10 days without a noticeable gain in flesh and strength. Carefully kept statistics show that out of every hundred people who begin the use of Samose, 98 per cent increase in weight and their health and strength are restored.

J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co., have so much confidence in this remarkable flesh forming food and health restorer that they are willing and glad to allow any customer to deposit one with them and take home a box of Samose with the understanding that if it does not give a marked increase in good firm flesh the money will be returned without any questions.

TURKEY MAKES CHANGES.

Noted in the Diplomatic Service—United States Ambassador.

Washington, Nov. 2.—A number of changes in the Turkish diplomatic service are possibilities for the near future and it may be that the ambassador to the United States, Hussein Kiazim Bey, may be given another post of equal responsibility. However, nothing definite is made at the embassy.

Should a successor be sent to Washington he is likely to be Lutfi Bey, the first chamberlain attached to the present Sultan's court. He formerly held a very important position in the Turkish foreign office and is said to be a man of exceptional ability and wide experience in foreign matters.

MACON IS READY

The private residences on the route to be traversed by the Presidential party have also been gaily debecked with fitting keys.

Already trains arriving bring enormous numbers from every section of the heart of Georgia. A banner crowd is expected.

NO VERDICT AT ASHEVILLE.

Jury in Watkins Case Still Out Evenly Divided.

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 2.—At 10 o'clock tonight nothing had been heard from the jury room and acting under instructions from the court, the officer in charge of the jury will give no information as to how the jury stands in the Watkins case, even if he knows. It is rumored, however, that the jury is still standing pat; that the twelve men remain evenly divided between conviction and acquittal.

A Religious Author's Statement

Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed same frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy." Robert R. Bellamy.

LADY IN BAD STATE

It Really Looked As If There Was No Way to Relieve Her Except By An Operation.

Ferris, Tex.—A letter from Mary Kilman of this place, recites how Cardui, used as a tonic, made her well and brought back her strength.

"I was confined to my bed for three months," she says, "and during this time suffered untold agony.

"I had a rising tumor or something of the kind in my right side. The doctor said an operation was almost inevitable and it really looked as if there was no other way.

"The rising bursted and I was in a critical condition, when I decided to try Cardui the woman's tonic.

"I used two bottles and now I am well and able to do a great part of my work. I can always speak a good word for this excellent tonic medicine."

Do you need a tonic?

Nobody knows, so well as you, whether you do or not.

A tonic is to help you over the hard places, to relieve headache and other unnecessary pains, the signs of nerve exhaustion or over-work

It is to make you feel fresh and bright when you feel tired, mopy and drowsy. To help you feel a pleasure in your work when you wish you were dead, rather than have to do it.

Don't cry, or worry. Take Cardui, the woman's tonic.
